STARS AND BARS TO WAVE ONCE MORE AT OLD BATTLE GROUND

Gettysburg Gaily Decorated With Blue and Gray for Reunion of Veterans Who Once Battled There

SAME OLD BUGLE CALLS BY OLD TIME BUGLERS

Every Convenience Will Be Placed at Command of Veterans Attending Celebration, Many Already There

(By Associated Press.)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 27.—That the stars and bars as well as the stars and stripes will appear at the big camp of veterans during the anniversary celebration was indicated today by an announcement from the office of the anniversary commission that "there is nothing to prevent the wearers of the gray from bringing along their battleflags."

At the same time, it was said that the Confederate flag would not be used in official decorations over which the commission has control. Residents of Gettysburg and Union veterans already here are extending a royal welcome to arriving Confederate veterans.

The town itself never has been so gaily decorated. Every business block is gay with the national colors and practically every home displays at least one flag. The stars and bars appear at a number of places, while the use of both the blue and the gray is a favorite method of decoration at many buildings.

FIFES AND BUGLE CALLS.

Large pictures of both Union and Confederate generals are much in evidence. The town is gay with martial music. Many of the veterans have brought their fifes, drums and bugles and the calls of war times are sounded in the streets, in some instances by the very men who did the same thing during the exciting days of the Gettysburg campaign half a century ago.

Finishing touches were put on the camp today. Equipment was distributed to the 5,000 tents, all of which are now up and everything is in readiness for the 50,000 old soldiers expected to attend the celebration.

"We are thoroughly prepared, and have the entire situation well in hand," declared Major Normoyle, in command at the camp. "Every old soldier will find things in readiness for him when he comes. He will be met at the train and shown the location of his tent. If he is not able to carry his baggage, someone will be here to do it for him. He will not have to do a stroke of work, not even to fill the water buckets in his tent."

Each of the four large sections composing the camp will be under the direct supervision of a company of regulars. One company of engineers and three of infantry will have charge of the work of guarding these sections, answering the calls of the veterans and otherwise giving attention to their needs.

Many of the camp kitchens were put in order today and smoke could be seen rising all over the site, a mile and a half square. The twelve ovens with a capacity of 50,000 loaves of bread a day were tested and found to be satisfactory.

SEEKS BATTLEFIELD NURSE.

One of the latest arrivals is Rev. D. F. Hubbard, of Los Angeles, Calif., who was severely wounded at the battle of Gettysburg, and who made the trip across the continent to attend the anniversary. One of his missions in coming, he said, was to find and express his appreciation to the nurse who with other ladies of the town, did so much after the battle to alleviate his suffering and that of his wounded companions.

F. A. Easton, of the Sixth New York cavalry, arrived yesterday to complete arrangements for his regimental reunion which will be held on July 1 on the field of the first day's fight. Easton is endeavoring to locate a number of Gettysburg women, who as school children, scattered flowers in the paths of Buford's cavalry and sang patriotic songs as they entered the town June 30, 1863. A dozen or more of them are said to be still living and if they can be found will be asked to sing the same songs again at the reunion.

Granddaughter of Longfellow Weds by Socialist Ritual

MANCHESTER, Mass., June 27.—Miss Della Farley Dana, daughter of Richard Henry Dana, of Cambridge, and a granddaughter of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, the poet, was married today by Socialist ritual to Robert E. Hutchinson, of Philadelphia.

On account of the interest of the bride and bridegroom in Socialism, the marriage ceremony was performed by the town clerk and the service was of the simplest character.

After the ceremony the couple left for New Zealand, where Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson intend to study the principles of state Socialism with the hope of making practical use of them when they return to America.

MRS. MARGARET SCHIEBER FREE OF MURDER CHARGE

(By Associated Press.)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27.—Mrs. Margaret Schieber, accused of murder in the second degree in connection with the death of her husband, Augustus Schieber, a wealthy lumberman, was found not guilty today. The jury which received the case late yesterday, returned its verdict when court opened today.

J. M. SLATON WILL BECOME GOVERNOR AT NOON SATURDAY

Simplest of Ceremonies Will Mark Retirement of Joseph M. Brown and Inauguration of New Executive

EXERCISES TO BE HELD IN LOWER HOUSE HALL

Chief Justice Fish Will Administer Oath, Great Seal Will Be Presented and Then Address Delivered

At noon Saturday the reins of government of the state of Georgia will pass into new hands.

The regime of Joseph M. Brown as governor will come to an end and John M. Slaton will be inducted into office with the administration of the oath by Chief Justice William H. Fish, of the supreme court.

With the presentation of the great seal of state by Philip Cook, secretary of state, to Governor Brown, who will deliver it to Governor-elect Slaton, who in turn will deliver it to the secretary of state, the formal inaugural exercises will have come to a close. Then Governor Slaton will deliver his inaugural address.

The ceremony planned by a joint committee from the senate and the house will be simple. The formality of declaring the new governor and other state officials elected was gone through with Thursday in a joint session of the general assembly in the house of representatives. All that remains now is the inauguration itself.

The inaugural exercises will commence promptly at noon. J. Randolph Anderson, president of the senate, will preside and present the governor-elect to the general assembly. The upper house will enter the hall promptly at 11:45 o'clock and the joint session will assemble. The inaugural committee, composed of Senators Rushin and Allen and Representatives Wheatley, Hardeman and Blackburn, will then repair to the governor's office, where they will meet the governor, the governor-elect and other state house officers and from there escort them to the house of representatives.

The invocation will be by Rev. J. B. Robins. The governor will then be presented, the oath administered, the seal presented and the inaugural address delivered.

Error of Jurist Technically Gives Prisoner Freedom

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 27.—Although convicted and sentenced for operating a gaming table and then released because he was given six months in the penitentiary instead of a half a year at hard labor, Mike Minto must fight for his liberty.

Robert C. Brickell, attorney general, who agree dto the release of Minto during habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Gaston Gunter in the city court Wednesday, announced Thursday that he would "apply to the supreme court for a certiorari as well as appeal from the decision of Judge Gunter."

The action of the city court in releasing Minto after he had been convicted and sentenced, the court of appeals had affirmed the case and Governor O'Neal had refused to grant a pardon, has started a war of words, the participants being Governor O'Neal, Attorney General Brickell and R. G. Arrington, assistant county attorney.

Minto was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary under section 6885 of the code when he should have been given six months at hard labor under section 7620.

PENNSYLVANIA GETS A SERVICE COMMISSION

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 27.—The public utilities bill, a measure that has been discussed for more than two years, is now in the hands of Governor Tener. There is no doubt that he will sign it. The bill provides for a commission of seven members who shall serve ten years at a salary of $10,000 a year. The commission will have the power to make rates, change train schedules and in other ways regulate the work of public service corporations.

ASHLEY RAPS MAYOR FOR HEALTH MENACE IN GARBAGE DUMPS

Says Mr. Woodward "In Opposing Crematory Seems Not to Care About This Question of Life and Death"

CITY MUST BURN GARBAGE OR UP GOES DEATH RATE

Sanitary Department Is Now Dumping in 12 Different Places and Flies Are Breeding by the Millions

At twelve different places in the city the sanitary department is dumping garbage. As the weather grows hotter, these piles of decaying vegetable and animal matter become more of a nuisance.

These facts, embellished by many details gleaned from personal inspection of the dumps, will be laid before the city board of health at its meeting Friday afternoon by Councilman Claude L. Ashley, the chairman of the sanitary committee of council.

The board will probably pass resolutions reciting the facts and urging Mayor Woodward to withdraw his opposition to the crematory, in order that the sanitary department can burn the garbage instead of dumping it.

Councilman Ashley has had a list of the garbage dumps prepared by the sanitary department and will read it to the board of health.

The list follows:

Milton avenue and Belt line railroad; Brookwood drive; Jackson and Ninth streets; car of Terrace avenue school; *Bellwood avenue, near coal yards; Pitts-*burg avenue and Garibaldi street; Fair street at the turn of East Lake car line; West Fair and Ashby streets; Greensferry avenue and Ashby street; Garibaldi street and University place; A. B. and A. railroad and Ashby street; West Fair street beyond Ashby street.

ASHLEY TALKS.

Councilman Ashley Friday morning told a Journal reporter some of the conditions as he has found them at the garbage dumps.

"A few days ago a lady on Vedado way, in the Fourth ward, called me around to her house," said he, "and showed me the ceiling on her front porch. It was covered with flies so thick that I could tell the color of the paint. She asked me if I could detect an odor from the sewer. I told her it wasn't the sewer that was obnoxious, but the garbage dump. Then I went to the garbage dump. The vegetable and animal matter was decaying and festering all over a big area of ground, and the stench was awful.

"I threw a stick on top of a heap of muck and the flies rose in a swarm so thick they made a noise like bees in a hive. I went back and promised the lady relief by the next day. If I lived. The best I could do was to have the dump covered with dirt and order the sanitary department to stop dumping there. What could they do? Why, they simply went over to a hillside, not far from the dump, and started a new one.

"The dump in the rear of the Forrest avenue school is even worse. I reckon I saw a million flies there.

"The city has laws prohibiting the breeding places of flies, and yet the city itself is manufacturing more flies at these garbage dumps than all the livery stables, cow lots and other breeding places put together.

"I am not joking when I say that if these dump piles are here all the summer the death rate will go higher than it ever went before.

"Why the mayor still opposes the crematory is more than I can understand. I have tried my best to impress upon him that it is a question of life and death, but he seems to be so stubbornly opposed to the crematory that he doesn't care.

"As chairman of the health and sanitary committee of council I feel in large measure responsible for the health of the city. It worries me. I get to thinking about it and can't sleep at night.

The mayor refuses to sign a contract for the crematory. The Destructor company says it will not turn the plant over to the city until it gets a contract. What are we going to do?"

Council Will Not Let Mayor Block Crematory

Council seems to have determined to go ahead and make a contract for the crematory without Mayor Woodward.

There are two ways for a contract to be made. One is for the Destructor company to submit a proposal, containing all the specifications and the guarantees, and with a bond attached, and for council to accept this proposal. The other is for council to submit a bid to be passed by council and executed by the company and by the mayor.

In the former method, if the mayor vetoes the acceptance of the proposal, council can override his veto. In the latter method, if the mayor refuses to execute the contract, council can proceed no further.

Hence, council will pursue the former method. In fact, such a procedure has already been started. The company's proposal was accepted by council and sent to the aldermanic board for separate action.

When this has been done, a check will be drawn for $125,000 payable to the Destructor company. Mayor Woodward probably will refuse to sign the check. Mandamus proceedings will thereupon be instituted by the Destructor company to compel him to sign it.

Meanwhile, the crematory is rapidly progressing to completion. It will be finished inside of two weeks. Whether it begins then to burn garbage, or stands idle until the company gets its money, is a question for the company to decide.

SENATOR SMITH WOULD LET PRESIDENT FIX DUTY

Would Give President Power to Proclaim Necessary Countervailing Duties

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—A plan for a general system of countervailing duties to enforce equal treatment for the products of the United States in foreign markets is being advocated by Senator Hoke Smith before the Democratic caucus which is considering the tariff bill.

Mr. Smith's plan is to give the president authority to proclaim countervailing duties whenever in his judgment such action is necessary to protect the products of the United States against discrimination by foreign countries. The counter-vailing duty is a duty equal to the one imposed by any foreign country against the like product when exported to that country from the United States.

The subject came up yesterday in the caucus in connection with the proposed counter-vailing duty on wheat and flour. It led to much discussion. Senator Smith, made an earnest speech in which he outlined his plans.

The matter came up again today when Senator O'Gorman offerd an amendment which embodies many of the features of Senator Smith's plans, but after some debate the subject went over and will be taken up again when the administrative features of the tariff bill are considered. This will be probably the middle of next week.

Senator Smith will probably offer an amendment as a substitute for the clause in the administrative section of the bill, which, as it now stands, authorizes the president to impose certain specific retaliatory duties on certain articles against countries that discriminate against the United States.

All amendments to the agricultural schedule of the new tariff proposed by Democrats of the senate finance committee were approved today by the caucus, including the countervailing duty on wheat and flour.

The finance committee later may recommend enlargement of its proposed amendment directing the president to proclaim countervailing duties on certain commodities when discrimination by other nations is disclosed.

For suggested changes the amendment to compel payment of full revenue duty on candles used in fortifying sweet wines was returned to theFinance committee. Opposition to the proposal was aroused among California wine producers.

COOPER GRIGGS NAMED FLA. CUSTOMS COLLECTOR

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—J. F. C. Griggs, of Apalachicola, Fla., was today nominated by President Wilson to be collector of customs for the Florida district, with headquarters at Jacksonville. His confirmation by the senate will remove John W. Martin, who has refused to resign.

PRESIDENT NOMINATES BLALOCK FOR COLLECTOR

Fayetteville Man's Name Sent to Senate for Big Federal Job in Atlanta

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate:

Colector of customs for the district of Florida, James F. G. Griggs, of Florida.

Collector of internal revenue, district of Georgia, Aaron O. Blalock, Georgia.

United States attorney eastern district of Louisiana, Walter L. Guion, Louisiana.

Davis and Barrow Nominations Delayed

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—As predicted exclusively in these dispatches a week or ten days ago, A. O. Blalock of Fayetteville, today was nominated by President Wilson as internal revenue collector for the state of Georgia, vice Henry S. Jackson. Blalock was nominated on the recommendation of Senator Hoke Smith.

The nominations of Joseph S. Davis, of Albany for United States marshal, for south Georgia, and David C. Barrow for customs collector at Savannah, did not come in today. Their appointments were recommended by Senator Bacon some days ago. It is understood there is no objection to the appointment of Barrow, but the announcement of Davis' selection by Mr. Bacon has aroused a storm of protest that has reached the White House.

When Senator Smith recommended the nomination of Blalock, it was announced through the press that Senator Bacon had called at the White House to voice his opposition to the nomination unless a place was found for Calvin M. Hitch of Atlanta, whom Bacon wanted for this place.

Senator Smith was unyielding in his support of Blalock for the position, however, and it is believed that Mr. Bacon did not press his opposition to the appointment.

It may be stated that a place will be probably found for Hitch, as both of the senators are anxious that he shall receive recognition from the administration. Senator Bacon is no more anxious to have Hitch rewarded than is his colleague, and it is understood that Senator Smith has assurances from a cabinet office that Hitch will be given a desirable appointment in due course of time.

CHARGE THREE COPS WITH PATRONIZING BLIND TIGERS

Chief Beavers Suspends Call Officers Bailey and Wood and Patrolman David

Three Atlanta policemen were suspended Friday by order of Chief Beavers on the charge of patronizing a blind tiger.

They are C. H. Bailey and R. A. Wood, call officers on the evening watch, and R. T. David, a patrolman on the morning watch.

Some days ago it was reported to Captain Terry, of the morning watch, that policemen had been seen to go into a negro rooming house in the rear of 127 Auburn avenue, operated by Ola Bradley, a negro woman, and that this place was generally believed to be a blind tiger.

Captain Terry reported to Chief Beavers, and the chief detailed two plain clothes men to watch the place.

At 12:20 Thursday morning the three above-named officers were seen by the plain clothes men to enter the place. Through the window the plain clothes men saw Ola Bradley pour three drinks of whisky.

Bailey and Wood had just come off duty at midnight. David had gone on duty at midnight. The place is on David's beat.

Thursdayaf ternoon a squad of men, headed by Chief Beavers, raided the place, found four gallons of whisky, and arrested Ola Bradley on the charge of violating the prohibition law. She gave a bond of $500.

The case will be aired in police court Friday afternoon.

SENATOR SMITH APPEALS FOR E. P. KING AS SUPT.

Presented to Postal Officials, Austin oNt Made Chief Clerk as Reported

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Edward P. King, of Atlanta, who is an applicant for superintendent of the railway mail service of the fourth division, was presented to postal officials by Senator Hoke Smith this morning. The senator made a strong appeal for Mr. King's promotion to the superintendency and declared that the character of indorsements presented by Mr. King entitle him to the office.

W. J. M. Austin, also of Atlanta, is King's chief rival for the position and it is believed by Austin's friends that his appointment as chief clerk of examinations of the division presages his early promotion to the superintendency over the head of Mr. King, who is now hi ssuperior in rank.

The statement that Mr. Austin had been appointed chief clerk of the division, vice Charles Rager, was erroneous, and due to the fact that the two chief clerkships were confused. It is understood, however, that Rager will be relieved as chief clerk of the division at Atlanta, but this may not be done until the reorganization of the fourth division is definitely decided upon.

Coal Strike in W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 27.—Information today was that the effort to prevent the strike of coal miners in New River field, called for July 1, might be successful. Officers of the United Mine Workers stated they would support the strike of the Cabin Creek men as it was based on the refusal of some coal operators to carry out the terms of the agreement by which the strike was settled May 1.

GRAND JURY RETURNS BILLS AGAINST EACH; THE CHARGE IS LIBEL

Cards Written by Chief of Detectives and Attorney and Published in the Atlanta Newspapers Form the Basis

TWO BILLS FOUND AGAINST FELDER, ONE ON LANFORD

Both Men Who Have Criticised Each Through Atlanta Press Must Face Jury on Criminal Libel Charge

The Fulton county grand jury on Friday returned two true bills against Colonel Thomas B. Felder, lawyer, and one bill against Chief Newport A. Lanford, of the city detective department, all bills charging libel.

The action of the grand jury insures the airing of Colonel Felder's charges against Chief Lanford and of Chief Lanford's charges against Colonel Felder in open court, and in effect it puts it up to each man to prove his charges against the other or to stand convicted of criminal libel.

The two famous cards of Colonel Felder, printed in the Atlanta newspapers of May 26 and June 8, in which the attorney flayed the detective, form the basis for the indictments against the latter.

The bills charge that each man "unlawfully, wantonly, maliciously and with malice aforethought caused to be published the articles in question, with the intent to falsely vilify and blacken the character of the other and to prejudice before the public the honesty, the integrity, the virtue and the reputation of the other."

The indictments charge that the statements made by each man against the other were disgraceful, false and malicious.

The grand jury considered the three bills for less than an hour, and returned the true bills on the testimony of three newspaper men who testified simply that the articles in question were signed, and given out for publication by the two men against whom the indictments were returned. The three witnesses were M. D. Collins, Sidney Ormond and W. F. Flythe.

WHAT FELDER SAID.

In his open letter to Chief Lanford, bearing date of June 7 and published in the Sunday morning papers of June 8, Colonel Felder begins by saying: "I shall now proceed to redeem the pledge heretofore made to lay bear through the columns of the press your infamous career in the maladministration of the affairs of the official position which you disgrace and dishonor."

Proceeding, Colonel Felder quotes the lamented Rev. Sam P. Jones as follows: "When you shave a gentleman use a razor. When you shave a hog use a brick." And adds that even one of Chief Lanford's mental caliber must recognize the appropriateness of the brick.

WHAT COLONEL FELDER SAID.

Colonel Felder further declares that he had no doubt that an investigation of vice conditions by the grand jury would show "abundantly your criminal connection therewith in all of its hideous deformity."

Continuing oColonel Felder said, "Within the past few weeks the hideous crimes committed by you, when exposed would create a panic about the habitues of a red pit, and bring the flush of shame to the cheeks of the inmates of a brothel. They mark you a hireling scavenger of filth and falsehood, lost to every sense of propriety and recreant to every principle of honor."

Colonel Felder repeatedly charged in his letter that Chief Lanford had lied and set forth wherein he claimed that he lied.

The reply in one of the papers made to Colonel Felder's card by Chief Lanford forms the basis for the indictment against the latter.

WHAT CHIEF LANFORD SAID.

In replying to Colonel Felder on Sunday morning, June 8, Chief Lanford said

FINANCIERS WILL TELL OF FAKE CONGRESSMEN

Deepest of Probes Will Be Carried on by Senate Lobby Investigating Committee

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Subpenas will be issued by the senate lobby investigating committee for Lewis Cass Ledyard and Paul D. Cravath, New York attorneys, and for David Lamar, a Wall street man, to appear next week in connection with its investigation of the charge that names of congressmen are being used to secure influence with financial men.

Mr. Ledyard and Mr. Cravath are understood to have additional information that they are willing to give the committee. Both were referred to by Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific, as having been recipients of mysterious telephone calls that purported to come from congressmen.

The story told the lobby committee last night by A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, has astonished congressional circles and resulted in a demand from many quarters that the senate committee use every effort to find the men responsible.

Mr. Palmer testified that Lewis Cass Ledward had been called repeatedly by a man who represented himself as Mr. Palmer. The attorney took the precaution to learn that Mr. Palmer was not in New York, however, and then kept the congressman informed of developments until evidence had been secured, strongly indicating whom the calls came from.

"We will go to the bottom of this thing," said Chairman Overman, of the senate committee, today. "Mr. Ledyard, Mr. Cravath and Mr. Lamar will be first asked to appear, and others may be called later."

The committee will resume its hearings next week. Speaker Clark, Representative Underwood, Representative Henry and others whose names were used by the persons in conversation with financial men are urging the committee to push its inquiry.

Representatives Palmer and Riorden are the only congressmen whose names have thus far been given as having been impersonated over the telephone.

TRIBUTE TO MR. WILSON AT DOUGLAS UNVEILING

Senator Lewis Contrasts Present Conditions With Those of Buchanan's Days

(By Associated Press.)

BRANDON, Vt., June 27.—Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, speaking at the unveiling today of a statue of Stephen A. Douglas, referred to President Wilson's relations with the senate and compared them with conditions when President Buchanan and Senator Douglas joined issues. He said in part:

"Senator Douglas signaled his entrance to the United States senate by a break with the president of the United States—James Buchanan. Douglas demanded the distribution of public offices in support of his policies. President Buchanan differed from Douglas and permitted the patronage to be used against Douglas.

"President Wilson presents the opposite attitude. He puts the public good above the public office, and declines either to give out offices to senators as compensation for their support, or to penalize those who oppose him by denying them public patronage. Buchanan went to defeat in trying to retaliate upon senators who opposed his policies and went to political disgrace in trying to destroy senators because they would not support his policies.

"President Wilson is attempting to inaugurate the system that James Monroe put into effect with success in the 'era of good feeling,' in 1823, and seeks to emulate the course of George Washington in recognizing no party organization as having any right to urge its existence as a mere agency of political offices. James Buchanan was on trial under the assaults of Douglas to test whether the doctrine of retaliation upon senators could succeed. It failed.

"President Wilson declines to allow his personality to be put on trial, but under exactly similar conditions as surrounded Buchanan on the slavery and admission of new states issues, President Wilson with his currency and tariff policies is putting the country to test."

Brandon is Douglas' birthplace.

AMERICANS WARNED TO FLEE FROM BATTLE ZONE

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL'S $7,000 BOOKLOVERS' CAMPAIGN.

The Plan and How You Can Enter

The Journal has published seventy-five pictures, each representing the title of one book.

Seven thousand dollars' worth of prizes will be given to those who can select the most correct titles.

Every contestant has the right to ten answers on each picture.

The Journal's new Official Catalogue contains all the titles used.

The Answer Book gives you the right to ten answers, using only one of each picture. With the Answer Book The Journal will give you the set of thirty-five prize pictures free.

The Answer Book will cost 50c at the office, 80c by mail. The Catalogue sells for 25c at the office, 27c by mail. Use the coupons in enlisting. Extra pictures cost 2c each.

Subscribe for The Journal and get all the Campaign stories.

Enter now, and get in line for your share of the $7,000.

The Campaign is open to all residents of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

See complete offer further on another page.

"HOW TO SELECT TITLES." By a Lady Who Knows.

While the Campaign Editor is very busy these days, he must take time to eat, and dropped into a downtown restaurant yesterday afternoon to get a little lunch and was lucky enough to get a table right next to two ladies who had The Journal Booklover's Catalogue and all the pictures up to date. One of the two was a prize winner of last year, and the commendation was a new list for this year's contest. The prizes, the pictures and was inclined to give up the work, feeling that she was not smart enough to get them.

We will give you the lady's exact words and feel sure you will enjoy her talk as the editor did, and in your case it may help you to win a prize.

"No, Mary Ellen, these Journal Booklovers' pictures are not so hard but you cease to make them hard like everything you undertake to do. Why, you make a hard task of your simplest household duties and you know it. I know you do. Now, let me show you how to go after the correct titles to these pictures, bearing in mind all the time the fact that you have the right to ten answers on each picture when you decide you need that many. We will take picture No. 8, published on Sunday, 1913, you see it is a picture of boys, some in bathing suits and from the attitudes of them they evidently were not on the best of terms about the time this picture was taken. Start in your Catalogue at A, and you find first thing, 'The Antagonists,' then, 'At Odds.' Drop down to R, and you find 'Row,' 'Rough and Tumble,' 'Boy's Diary,' 'Words of Green Men,' and skipping through the book quick it does not look as if there are any more that might fit, until you strike the S column, where we have 'Spirit of Youth,' 'Seven on a High-way,' and away down in the W's we find 'We Are Seven.' There may be some more, and when you get home you can go through your Catalogue carefully on this plan and you will be surprised how easy it is to dig out possible answers to fit each picture. Of course, you know that I won a nice prize last year, and I feel reasonably sure of winning another this year, but aren't I do not intend to let a minute put in on this campaign. So, Mary dear, don't think the pictures are too hard for you, but that they are just hard enough to make a Booklovers' game interesting to you, and go in with a determination to win. Of course, you can't have that $1,000 because I will try hard for that, but you might get the $7.50 or any of the other prizes. Here, let me have your check, this is my treat, and let us go on home, as the children will be coming home from school soon now."

BOOKLOVERS' QUERIES

J. C. M., Atlanta, Ga. Boy in No. 28 is holding whip in right hand, rope or lines in left.

E. Barbina Unum, Atlanta, Ga. 1. All titles are selected from The Journal's catalogue and if they are not correct in the catalogue, they would be listed that way. Go by the catalogue. 2. School in No. 54 is not in session.

Mrs. J. P., Shelbyville, Tenn. 1. Decide Nos. 64, 69, 42, 46, 53, 59, for yourself. 2. What are the numbers on No. 71? 789. 3. No special kind of trees in Nos. 38 and 53.

Inquirer. We cannot furnish list of correct answers in last year's contest.

A Contestant, Marietta, Ga. 1. Decide Nos. 8, 15, 39, 41, 60 and 63 for yourself. 2. No social kind of trees in No. 35. 3. Small black spot in front of tire has no bearing on picture No. 48. 4. What has the man in No. 2 on his shoulder? Raincoat.

Reader: We hope to have Answer Books enough to last until the closing day of the sale of souvenirs, but we cannot promise to have them until that time. Your safest plan is send right in for one while you are sure you can get it. When present supply is exhausted, we cannot secure any more in time to be of use in this campaign.

A Contestant. We cannot allow more time for arranging solutions and sending into the office than already announced in the paper.

H. P., Dawsonville, Ga. 1. What is object projecting from left side of house in No. 58? Trees. 2. Is man second in No. 48. 3. No later in No. 47. Has the girl in No. 30 anything on her beside book? 4. Is Man, driving bear in No. 24. What is on sofa in No. 19? Pillow. Decide Nos. 63, 58, 32, 4 for yourself.

Mrs. W. S., Gray, Ga. 1. Decide Nos. 3, 6, 30, 26, 27, 32, 37, 38, 70 for yourself. 2. Grown people in No. 6. 3. Park scene in No. 4. decide for yourself if the clouds are streamers. 4. Man is not blind in No. 51, there is no man in No. 42. 5. Soldier in No. 56. 6. Decide 73 for yourself. 7. Young man in No. 7 riding on level ground. The black line across knee of rider does not have any bearing on the picture.

Mrs. C. E. C., Dublin, Ga. Delivery and deliverance have practically the same meaning.

Mrs. J. G. C., Griffin, Ga. The three men in No. 48 are on an island, no boats in sight here. Is No. 44 seashore picture? Yes. Is the man in No. 43 supposed to be blind? No.

A Subscriber. 1. Scenes in Nos. 4, 17, 30, 62 and 72 are in park. They could be either in city or country.

Mrs. J. R. C., Mineral Bluff, Ga. 1. Are there more than three people in No. 6? No. 2. Clouds, in No. 7 would have no significance. 3. We have not given out the correct answer to No. 8. Any titles mentioned in campaign stories or contestants' solutions, we could not say if the correct answer was mentioned. 4. Decide Nos. 9, 14, 17, 31, 37, 53, 55, 62, 64, 67 for yourself. 5. The sand is drifted by the sea in No. 44. 6. No. 61 is a man's establishment, not necessarily a library.

CHANGE IN PLANS FOR SEWER CONSTRUCTION

Butler Street and Highland Avenue Extension to Run From Tenth Street South

The public works committee of the county board at a meeting Thursday determined that the Butler street and Highland avenue sewer extensions shall first be built from Tenth street south to the present outfalls.

This is done to satisfy the demands of the people in the section between Tenth street and the outfalls, and is a change in the plan of work commenced by Captain T. J. Donaldson, the county chief of construction.

The building of a trunk sewer from Tenth street south to the present sewer outfalls will not be sufficient, however, to satisfy the people in that section entirely. After this trunk sewer is built, they want it continued from Tenth street north as a trunk sewer instead of an intercepting sewer.

STATE HIGH SCHOOL CONTESTS AT ATHENS

First Week in July All High School Teachers Gather in Convention

The sixth annual meeting of state high school associations of Georgia and high school contests will take place on the campus of the University of Georgia, at Athens, on July 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5.

The high school debating contests will occur on Wednesday, July 2; the music contest and the championship debate on Thursday; the declamation, athletic, spelling, and recitation contests on Friday. Suitable prizes will be awarded in all contests.

There will be daily lectures, including talks by Dr. H. A. Hollister, of the University of Illinois, and Dean Southwick, of the Boston School of Expression. These will be followed by conferences on home economics, science, mathematics, language and English, in which teachers from all over the state will take part.

$25 for Swiping Clothes

ANNISTON, Ala., June 27.—Alonzo McKinney, who stole the clothes of Street Overseer W. F. aPrker after the latter had paid his fine and given him a job on his farm, was arraigned in police court here again Thursday morning and fined $25 on a charge of larceny after trust.

IN LOCAL THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
GRAND—"Quo Vadis," in pictures.
BIJOU—Fabiola Musical Comedy.

Gertrude Vanderbilt and George Moore at the Forsyth this week have completely eclipsed all of the successes they have registered here before.

The bill is a clever one all through, starting with the Japanese acrobats, and concluding with Ideal, who does wonderful swimming and diving stunts. Sandwiched in between will be found a comedy sketch of unusual value, a comedian who really forces laughter, and the Six Musical Cuttys, who present perhaps the best musical act that has been seen on a local stage.

For next week, a program has been arranged that embraces a little of everything. It will be headed by Ed Abeles, who for years has been associated with the Cohan and Harris office. His biggest success was possibly in the production of "Officer 666" in New York this season. Billy McDermott, the tramp comedian, who has been a great favorite all season, will be another one of the features on this bill, and the Welch, Francis company in a hurrah comedy sketch also are announced.

"Quo Vadis" completes its engagement at the Grand with matinee and night performances Friday and Saturday, and as there is every indication that the attendance on these two days for the four performances will be exceptionally large, the prediction made that the first week's attendance would be eclipsed is about to be fulfilled.

"Quo Vadis" in two hours and one-quarter means an attraction that is the equal of any that has been seen on the Grand stage. There is genuine interest in every inch of the film, and there is a lively demand for seats for the remainder of the performances.

Commencing with Monday matinee, and continuing all during the week, Thomas A. Edison's talking pictures will be the attraction. This is the first time that the Edison pictures have been seen in Atlanta.

In addition to the talking pictures, a program of splendid features will be added.

The pleasing impression created by "The Merry Whirl" Monday at the Bijou has been more than duplicated at the succeeding performances during the week.

Next week's attraction will be the laughable musical mix-up entitled "A Trip to Paris."

Intense Heat Around Chicago

CHICAGO, June 27.—Intense heat, with norelief in sight, for the next few days, is predicted for Chicago and the middle west in a special bulletin issued today by Henry J. Cox, official weather forecaster for this district.

COLLEGE PARK TO HAVE TOWN BOARD OF TRADE

Meeting on July 3 Will Result in Its Organization—McKinney to Make Address

At 8 o'clock on the evening of July 3 there will be a meeting of citizens in the bank building at College Park for the purpose of organizing a board of trade for that township.

Major B. S. Huie, of College Park, will speak on "What We Have and What We Need," and C. D. McKinney, of Decatur, will tell the value of a board of trade to a town. Decatur having had a board of trade for some time, it is expected that Mr. MiKinney's address will be both interesting and profitable.

Great enthusiasm has been manifested in College Park in regard to the board of trade idea. Business men and residents are eager to form one and a large attendance is expected on the night of the 3d.

W. J. HARRIS CONFIRMED AS DIRECTOR OF CENSUS

WASHINGTON, June 26.—William J. Harrison, of Georgia, was confirmed as director of the census by the senate today, in succession to B. Dana Durand. Republican senators had delayed the nomination since early in March, but agreed to confirm it provided Durand was permitted to hold office until July 1.

L. C. GREEN URGES NEED FOR A PUBLIC COMFORT

He Plans Aggressive Movement to Build Such Station in Convenient Place

L. C. Green, a well known Atlanta real estate man, who was recently elected to the city park board from the Fourth ward, is planning to start a movement for a public comfort station, which he considers one of Atlanta's principal needs.

"The station could be located underneath the steps leading down from the Whitehall viaduct. Or it could be located in what is now the Pryor street underpass. I am not personally interested in any location. There are many places available and convenient.

"The station should be fully equipped, should be kept clean and sanitary and a trained attendant should be in charge. There should be boot black stands, desks, telephones, etc.

"Council should appropriate the money to build a public comfort station."

LEGISLATORS SEEK TO REGULATE SEINING NETS

Senator Elkins and Representative Methvin Wish to Give Small Fish Better Chance

Bills were introduced in the legislature Thursday, by Senator O. H. Elkins, of the Fifth district, in the senate, and by Representative C. M. Methvin, of Dodge county, in the house, which provide for the regulation of the meshes of seins, nets and traps in the waters of this state.

The seining season in Georgia opens July 1 and closes February 1. The bill regulates the size of seining nets, requiring fishermen to use a larger net than usual; provides that breakers of the act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

LEGISLATURE SETTLES DOWN TO REAL BUSINESS

First Bill to Pass Will Set the Election Date For United States Senator

With two days of preliminaries out of the way, members of the general assembly of Georgia will take a deep breath Friday and settle down to the first real business of the 1913 session.

Both houses will doubtless labor during the rest of the week without fixed committees, for Speaker Burwell of the house and President Anderson of the senate have announced that the committee appointments will not be made until some time next week.

Comment upon the personnel of the principal committees is rife in both houses and legislators are looking forward with eagerness to the announcement of the speaker and president in this matter. Speaker Burwell, while willing to forecast the men who will head the main house committee, does not expect to make his list public until next week. President Anderson also will hold up his appointments until the middle of next week.

House Bills

HOUSE BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Mr. McMichae, of Marion—A bill providing a special levy of 1 mill for two years only, to provide funds to pay teachers promptly.

By Mr. Merry of Whitfield—A bill to amend the charter of the town of Tunnel Hill.

By Messrs. Field and Smith of DeKalb—A bill authorizing an election in Lithonia by qualified voters to decide on the issuance of bonds to build city hall.

By Mr. Thompson, of Madison—Two bills to incorporate the town of Danielsville.

By Mr. Faulk of Ben Hill—Two bills to amend an act repealing the provisions calling for the three commissioner districts and regulating the term of office.

AVALANCHE OF BILLS SWAMPS HOUSE CLERK

An avalanche of bills, both local and of state-wide interest, swamped the desk of the clerk of the house at the third day's session of the state legislature Friday.

In providing a date for the election of United States Senator Bacon, by the passage of the special resolution by the Bibb delegation, all records of passing a bill in so short a time after the convening of the general assembly were equaled and possibly beaten.

The governor's second message, dealing exclusively with the disposition of the lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad was read shortly after the opening of the session. Later a bill bearing on the subject was introduced and read for the first time. In the event of its passage the disposition of the property will be settled by a vote of the people of the state.

INMAN PARK-CLIFTON LINE GETS MORE CARS

Ten Minute Headway in the Morning Soon—Improvements on Houston

Improved street car service on two routes of the Georgia Railway and Power company has resulted from a conference between members of the state railroad commission and officials of the power company.

The Clifton end of the Inman Park-Georgia avenue route gets a ten-minute headway between cars during the morning and afternoon rush hours and a fifteen-minute headway after 8 p. m. During the other hours of the day the previously-maintained headway of twenty minutes will be continued.

A slight change has been made in the headway of cars on the oHuston street-Walker street route. The all-day headway has been reduced from ten to nine minutes and during the rush hours the headway between Cleburne avenue, on one end of this route and Holderness street, on the other end, has been placed at four and a half minutes.

COWETA SHERIFF HIS OWN REVENUE OFFICER

Sheriff Brewster, of Coweta county, and Chief Fincannon, of Newnan, last night raided an "alcoholic" still a few miles north of Newnan.

A seventy-five-gallon brass kettle was taken and other parts of the still were broken, also about fifty gallons of bulekberry brandy, rum, whisky and apply brandy destroyed.

Three arrests were made. This is the last of a number of stills broken in this section.

TALLULAH FALLS APPEAL COMES UP ON SATURDAY

T. S. Felder and Edgar Watkins to Argue State's Appeal in Gainesville

Arguments on the state's motion for a new trial of the Tallulah Falls case will be submitted to Judge J. B. Jones at Gainesville Saturday morning by Attorney General T. S. Felder representing the state, and Attorney Edgar Watkins, of Atlanta, representing the Tallulah Falls Conservation association.

The trial of the case occurred at Clayton on May 27, 28 and 29 and it was decided against the state. In the event Judge Jones overrules the motion for a new trial an appeal will be taken to the supreme court. Neither party to the case will be satisfied until the supreme court passes finally upon the issues involved.

Scores Offer Cuticle To Save Fire Victims

(By Associated Press.)

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 27.—A score of persons—two of them women—have volunteered to give patches of their skin to save suffering victims of the recent explosion at the Husted Milling plant. Many more volunteers have applied by telephone to the hospitals and surgeons think they will have no trouble in securing the 10,000 square inches of skin which it is estimated will be required.

The explosion's death list stood at fourteen with indications that it would be increased today, and the number of missing was twelve.

JUDGE BATEMAN'S TRIAL TO RUN THROUGH FRIDAY

Former Justice of Peace Is Charged With Larceny After Trust

Judge J. N. Bateman, Atlanta lawyer and former justice of the peace, was placed on trial before a jury in the criminal division of the superior court Thursday afternoon on a charge of larceny after trust preferred by Frank Rothleuter of Kilgore, Neb. The trial is expected to last throughout the day Friday.

The only witness heard at Thursday's session was the complainant, who frequently went bitterly as he told the court of selling his cattle in Nebraska in order that he might invest the money in what he termed a fake racing swindle.

On the witness stand Rothleuter charged in substance that in January he met one H. H. Brown at Miami, Fla., who introduced him to one J. H. Blake, and together they took him to a fake pool room. There, playing together, they won various small amounts on horse races, which Blake claimed were "fixed" so no one on the inside could lose, according to the story of the witness.

Finally Rothleuter declared, the payment of $56,000, which they were supposed to have won, was held up because of the question of the validity of Rothleuter's check, which had been used in making the bet.

Then the witness told the court as the tears rolled down his cheeks, he wired his son to sell his cattle and send him the cash with which he was to cover the check.

While waiting for the arrival of the cash the scene of activity was transferred from Miami to Atlanta, according of Rothleuter's story, and on February 16 he and Blake and Brown carried the money to rooms on Whitehall street, where Brown bet the entire amount and lost, cleaning out the Nebraskan, who claims that he dropped a cool $9,000.

Neither Brown nor Blake has been arrested, but Rothleuter conects Judge Bateman with the alleged swindle in the following manner:

In Miami he claims to have seen Judge Bateman frequently with the two men in the pool room there, and that he was here with them. He claims also that the rooms on Whitehall street where he says he was "fleeced," are controlled by the judge.

Private Detective Cheatham, of the Miles agency, was among the state's witnesses, and he produced the general paraphernalia of a phony pool room, which he said he found in the Miami house, where the gang, which is alleged to have fleeced Rothleuter, operated.

Other witnesses were introduced to show that the rooms on Whitehall street, where the gang is said to have operated here, is owned by relatives of Judge Bateman and controlled by him.

Rothleuter was on the witness stand again Friday morning for some time, and it was after 12 o'clock, when the defense commenced putting up their witnesses.

Judge L. S. Roan, who is presiding, announced when the recess for dinner was taken at 1 o'clock, that he desired the attorneys to make every effort to complete the case during the day, and it is accordingly expected to go to the jury about 6 o'clock.

Anderson, Felder, Dillon & Whitman, counsel for Rothleuter, are assisting the solicitor in the prosecution of the case, while Westmoreland Brothers are defending Judge Bateman.

THOMAS ASKS RECEIVER FOR TRUITT'S PROPERTY

Trustee in Bankruptcy Alleges Fraudulent Transfers of Property

Alleging a fraudulent transfer of property, E. D. Thomas, as trustee in bankruptcy for S. M. Truitt & Son, coal dealers, has filed a bill in the federal court asking that the various persons receiving this property be enjoined from disturbing its status, and that a receiver be appointed for it.

Mr. Thomas alleges that C. L. Truitt, one of the partners, transferred to H. A. Almand, his brother-in-law, several parcels of real estate while the firm was insolvent, and that the transfer was fraudulent. One of the parcels was a lot of the Crass subdivision on Peachtree street south of Currier street, worth $22,000 on June 6, 1912, when it was transferred, as well as a parcel on Ninth street and another on Victoria street.

The bill alleges that Almand had no means to invest in such property, that part of the time he worked for the Truitt concern and lived with relatives, and had since been employed as a Pullman car conductor at $100 a month.

It is also alleged that the concern formed a company known as the Independent Transfer Co., which took over other assets. The trustee asks that this company, S. M. Truitt & Son, C. L. Truitt, H. A. Almand, L. B. Jackson, Mrs. R. A. Almand and Mrs. Lavader Jackson be made parties to the bill.

BATTLE AGAIN ON TO EXTEND W. & A. TO SEA

Senate and House Resolutions Ask Purchase of Atlantic, Waycross & Northern

The ancient proposition of extending the Western and Atlantic railroad to the sea was revived in new guise in the state senate Friday by a resolution from Senator J. L. Sweat, of the Fifth district, asking the appointment of a commission to investigate St. Marys as a water terminal, by way of the Southern and the Atlantic, Waycross and Northern railroads.

The scheme was advanced some time ago by owners of the Atlantic, Waycross and Northern, a short road now operating from St. Marys on tide water to Kingsland. It is proposed that the state buy that strip of the Southern railroad running from Atlanta to Fort Valley, build a road already surveyed from Fort Valley to Kingsland by way of Wacross and there unite with the Atlantic, Waycross and Northern.

Senator Sweat's resolution provides for the appointment of a commission named by the governor to look into the advisability of the purchase.

This commission, according to the provision of the resolution, is to be composed of one lawyer, two expert railroad men and two business men and is to be named by the governor as soon as the resolution is approved.

This route was recently under discussion in and around the offices of the state railroad commission when it was proposed by S. Guyt McLendon, attorney for the owners of the Atlantic, Waycross and Northern railroad.

A resolution to the same effect was introduced in the house.

WOULD ALLOW HUSBAND TO TESTIFY AGAINST WIFE

Grace Case Inspires Movement to Reform in Criminal Procedure

Reform of criminal proceedure growing out of the sensational trial of Mrs. Daisy Ulrich Opie Grace a year ago was proposed to the state senate Friday by O. H. Elkins of the Fifth district.

Senator Elkins, taking umbrage at the unusual features of the Grace case, proposes to amend section 1037 of the criminal code so as to permit a husband to be a competent, but not a compellable witness against his wife when she is charged with doing him bodily harm. This, Senator Elkins declares, by law is now permitted of the wife against her husband and he sees no good reason why the law should not be reciprocal.

It will be remembered that Eugene Grace was not allowed to testify in court against his wife.

Under the present proposed law a husband will not have to testify against his wife, but he can do so if he desires to.

Another criminal reform proposed by Senator Elkins is a modification of section 1026 of the code which allows a defendant in a criminal case to take the stand and make a statement not under oath.

It is proposed that the defendant be required to go under oath if he desires to make a statement to the jury and as a sworn witness he can, under the Elkins bill, be cross-questioned by the prosecution, but only on those things to which he has testified.

Senator Elkins says that under the present system a defendant can make any sort of rambling statement which sometimes prejudices the jury where it really does not refer directly to the case.

BRITISH TRUST CONTROLS KENTUCKY TOBACCO

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The Imperial Tobacco company, known as the "British Trust," absolutely controls the price of tobacco in the Henderson, Ky., tobacco belt, according to testimony today before the congressional joint tobacco commission by William Elliott, a Henderson banker, and president of the Stemming Tobacco association, of Kentucky.

DEADLOCK OF ORDERS OVER PERRY'S ENSIGN

(By Associated Press.)

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 27.—Officials of the Toledo Museum of Art today refused to deliver to Ensign Lowry, sent from Annapolis by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, the Comodore Perry flag bearing the inscription, "Don't Give Up the Ship." Several weeks ago the secretary of the navy issued an order lending the flag to Toledo for three months. It was to be the central flag in a display in connection with the Perry victory centennial celebration to continue during the summer. The display will open tomorrow.

Ensign Lowry's orders instructed him to proceed with the flag to Erie, Pa., and place it aboard the Perry flag ship Niagara, which is to be conveyed this summer to lake cities which will celebrate the Perry victory.

Blood Bath Knocks Rheumatism

Remarkable Effect of a Remedy That Actually Irrigates the Entire Blood Supply.

The Hardest Nut of All, Rheumatism, Is Cracked by S. S. S.

It sounds queer to take a blood bath but that is precisely the effect of a most remarkable remedy known as S. S. S. It has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally by your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle. It is a standard remedy, recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case and you desire expert advice, write to The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

Senator Bush Would Strengthen Georgia's Insurance Statutes.

A bill introduced by Senator W. J. Bush, of the Eighth district, and providing for the punishment of officers and agents of fraudulently operated insurance companies is intended to accomplish a much-needed reform and it will doubtless become a law.

Senator Bush's bill broadens the authority of the insurance commissioner, authorizing him to subpoena the officers and agents of insurance companies and require them to present their records to verify reports offered to their public in soliciting business.

Wohlwender, of Muscogee, is Strong on the Early Bird Stuff.

Representative E. Wohlwender, of Muscogee, has three pet bills which he hopes to see enacted into law at this session of the legislature. He may be deeply interested in and may introduce numerous other bills, but the three which are just now nearest his heart are:

A "blue sky" bill, designed to protect the public from promoters of worthless stocks and bonds.

A bill permitting foreign insurance companies to remove their deposits from the state treasury whenever they wish to withdraw from the state, provided they reinsure their policies and that their plan of removal is approved by the insurance commissioner.

A bill to increase the salaries of the prison commissioners from $2,000 a year to $3,000.

Immediately after the house was organized on Wednesday Mr. Wohlwender got the floor, and before any one knew just what he was about he had introduced his three bills, after which he smiled broadly and sat rown.

Representative John R. Spence, of Carroll, joined Mr. Wohlwender in presenting the "blue sky" bill, and the insurance bill was introduced jointly by Mr. Wohlwender and Representative W. F. Cook, of Chattahoochee. Therefore, these bills not only got in early, but when the roll is called on them their advocates will be among the first and the last to vote upon them, for the roll of counties is called in alphabetical order.

He Has Been Solicitor and City Attorney and Now He's in House.

Among the new legislators who have come to try their hand at law-making during the 1913 session of the general assembly, is Samuel L. Olive, a member of the Richmond delegation from Augusta. He has been doing things for a great number of years, and it is therefore not surprising that he is now a member of the lower house.

Prior to his pilgrimage to Augusta in January, 1911, Representative Olive was solicitor of the city court of Elberton and at the same time held down the office of city attorney, which is some holding down, as the saying goes.

Before the state Democratic primary campaign in 1912 his friends got behind him and induced him to run for the legislature, and right here let it not be forgotten that he was almost a total stranger to Augustans. He ran, and finished ahead of the ticket over seven opponents.

Besides being able to run Mr. Olive can speak. There are many politicians who will remember that he stumped the state for Senator Hoke Smith on two occasions and the result of his addresses are now a matter of history. Besides this he made several speeches for Woodrow Wilson, before the presidential primary in Georgia.

Mr. Olive is the son of J. T. Olive, of Oglethorpe, who was a member of the house several times in years past. The parent was the author of the Olive bill which practically occupied the entire time of one session of the legislature. He is also a nephew of the late presiding Justice Samuel Lumpkin, of the supreme court, so it is not astounding after all that Richmond's new representative should have led of the ticket. He has a habit of leading.

W. C. Snodgrass, of Thomasville, Judge Allen's Campaign Manager.

Among the large number of south Georgians in attendance upon the opening of the legislature was W. C. Snodgrass, a well-known lawyer of Thomasville. Mr. Snodgrass had charge of the campaign headquarters of his friend, Judge John T. Allen, who was a candidate for president of the senate.

Rotation of Judges Bill Stands Good Chance to Become Law.

There appears to be a strong probability that the bill to be introduced by Representative D. C. Pickett, of Terrell, and providing for the rotation of superior court judges from one circuit to another, will become a law at this session of the legislature.

Mr. Terrell stated Friday that he was at present studying the laws of New York, South Carolina and other states which provided for the rotation of judges and that as soon as he could prepare a bill which would meet the peculiar needs of Georgia as well as typify the latest progress in judicial reform, he would introduce it in the house.

A number of the leading members of the house have signified their intention to support the measure.

Joe Hill Hall to Have Seat on Floor of House.

Joe Hill Hall, one time candidate for governor and former dean of the house as representative from Bibb county, is a noticeable figure in the hotel lobbies and house corridors these days.

Although he sacrificed his membership in the legislature to participate in the uncertainty of a race for the governorship he can't regard himself as quite out of the legislative broil. Nor do the elder members seem to think "the old man" no longer has a finger in the affairs of the general assembly. The former legislator is in Atlanta, it is understood, primarily in the interests of a new county proposition, but he is being sought after continually for advice on this and that and the other, and new members are looking to him constantly for tips on matters of department.

Some sort of effort will be made, it is said, to find him a permanent seat on the floor of the house where he can follow the doings of the lower branch as avidly as he would if he was a member.

Ordinary Kent Wants His Disbarment Lifted.

Former Representative W. B. Kent, of Montgomery county, but now ordinary of the new county of Wheeler, which he was instrumental in creating, is in Atlanta.

Mr. Kent will make another effort at this year's session of the general assembly to have a bill passed which will restore to him the right to practice law in Georgia.

About two years ago Mr. Kent was disbarred. He has always charged his troubles to political prosecution. Mr. Kent is determined to have his disqualifications removed and he is a tireless and persistent worker when he sets his mind and attention on anything. He has many friends in the legislature who sympathize with him and who will do what they can to assist him.

SUGGESTED DIVISION OF THE UNITED STATES INTO TWELVE REGIONAL BANKING DISTRICTS

Herewith is presented in outline a map of the United States, reproduced from the Cincinnati Enquirer, showing the probable divisions into which the country will be apportioned should the administration currency bill, introduced by Representative Glass, become a law. The division for the greater part is made along geographical lines, with reference to the most convenient commercial center as the center of finance of that particular district.

A Cincinnati financier has made the following abstract of the proposed currency law. It is couched in simple language, and even the layman will get an idea of what the administration purposes to do by reading the subjoined analysis:

Formative—How Created—Twelve or more banks are to be established in various industrial centers throughout the United States, the shareholders of which shall be national (compulsory) and state banks (optional) of those communities, and each of these banks is to be called a federal reserve bank of the city in which it is established. The capital shall not be less than $5,000,000, and the power is given to establish branches in the smaller communities of each section. Dividends on the stock limited to 5 per cent, if earned. All in excess goes to the government after the establishment of a 20 per cent surplus fund.

Supervisory—How controlled—Each of these Federal Reserve Banks is to be controlled by a board of nine directors, three of them to be practical bankers, chosen by the shareholding banks; three who are not bankers and not interested in banks, chosen in the same way from industrial and agricultural occupations; also, three appointed by the Federal reserve board located at Washington, one of which is to be thereafter chairman of the board of the federal reserve bank, who will virtually act as president of the bank, and also be the designated agent of the federal reserve board in the transactions and negotiations arising betwegn the federal reserve bank and the federal reserve board.

Operation—a. As to the Public—It will not deal with the public.

b. As to the government—It will be the depository of all of the active accounts oif the United States government. The money on hand in national banks, amounting to about $200,000,000, will be withdrawn by the United States government and deposited with the various federal reserve banks. The government will aso make its disbursements by checking against federal reserve banks.

c. As to banks—It will receive deposits only from those that are shareholders, and will undertake to collect any draft or check drawn by them upon a solvent bank—state or national. It will lend to member banks by three methods; First, by rediscounting commercial paper or notes secured by United States or municipal bonds for short periods. Second, by lending the shareholding bank direct, upon application of 10 of the shareholding banks to the secretary of the treasury, and in his judgment public policy so requires. Loan limited to 75 per cent of value of "collateral. Third, buy from or sell to shareholding banks bills of exchange arising out of commercial transactions.

d. Open Market Operations—It may buy documentary bills; may deal in gold coin and bullion at home and abroad, and also government bonds.

e. Note Issues—A total issue of $500,000,000 authorized notes, which shall appear to be the issue of the United States government, and shall be put out at discretion of federal reserve board. In case of need each federal reserve bank will apply to the federal reserve board for such amount of federal reserve notes as it reasonably needs, and give as collateral for the money such paper as it has acquired by rediscounting for its shareholding banks, but can only pay out three times as much of these notes in amount as it has gold in its vaults.

f. The Changing of Reserves—The shareholding banks are required by a gradual process to establish a portion of their reserves with the federal reserve bank in their district, and after the lapse of three years the balances of one bank with another as at present arranged, will no longer count as reserve.

(Note: This provision has aroused much opposition from the large reserve banks of large cities, as a large proportion of the deposits consist of the reserve balances of out-of-town banks.)

National Bank Charters Enlarged—The charters of national banks having $1,000,000 capital are enlarged so as to permit the establishment of banks in foreign countries, and the charters of country banks enlarged to permit lending on real estate.

OFFICER INJURED WHILE BREAKING IN NEW HORSE

Policeman A. J. Hollis Thrown From Animal's Back, Sustaining Injuries

Policeman A. J. Hollis was painfully injured Friday morning when he was thrown from a horse which had been presented to the police department for trial.

The department is selecting several new steeds for its men this week. Officer Hollis took the new horse out to his beat at 8 o'clock. Near the corner of Ellis and Valentine streets the animal suddenly began to buck.

Hollis stuck to his back for several moments, but was finally thrown off, landing against the curbing. The horse fell on top of him. The officer was taken to the Grady hospital in an ambulance, where it was stated that no bones were broken. His back is strained, and there is a slight possibility that he has been internally injured.

The police department will not buy the horse.

ELECTION OF SENATOR IS SET FOR JULY 15

There Will Be No Opposition to Senator Bacon, Already Nominated in Primary

The house of representatives Friday morning passed a resolution introduced Thursday, fixing the date of Senator Bacon's election to the United States senate as July 15, a mere matter of form, made necessary by the recent ratification of the amendment to the federal constitution providing for the direct election of United States senators.

Representative Fulbright, of Burke, objected to this action, urging that the question of the two undecided seatings in the house might make it invalid later. He withdrew his objection after the necessity for speed was pointed out to him and the measure was passed unanimously.

The committee of nine to look into the seating of the two members from Bleckley and Wheeler counties, whose advent into the house will make the membership 186 instead of 184, as provided by the constitution, was appointed. It consists of Representatives Fulbright, of Burke; Griffin, of Newton; Slater, of Bryan; Miller, of Bibb; Hardeman, of Jefferson; Gower, of Crisp; Wright, of Floyd; Blackburn, of Fulton, and Picquet, of Richmond.

"Firemen's" Outing

ROME, Ga., June 27.—The Rainbow Fire company, for many years a volunteer fire fighting force, but now a social organization, will have its twenty-eighth annual outing from July 12 to 22. Fernandina, Fla., has been selected, and it is probable that at least 100 Romans will be in the party.

Piedmont Rule Was Suspended for Kids of Salvation Army

For the first time in the history of Piedmont lake the hard-and-fast batning rules were suspended Thursday in one particular. The rule was in regard to the prohibition of male bathing suits, and its suspension spelled great glee instead of great disappointment to several hundred little folks who gathered at Piedmont for the annual picnic of the Salvation Army.

When the picnic was planned Brigadier Crawford purchased a big lot of bathing suits for the children. He bought white ones. Thursday morning the children donned them and rushed to the lake prepared for a glorious half hour in the water.

At the bank they paused. No one could go in the lake clad in white bathing suits said the guard. Then from 150 childish hearts a great wail of despair arose. No colored suits, no bathing.

It was a kindly cop whose heart was touched by the impending tragedy, approached the guards, and set his seal of approval on the breaking of the rules just this once. The Salvation Army juveniles were allowed to use their white suits and joy reigned supreme once more.

UNITARIANS TO HOLD CLOSING SERVICES

The Unitarian church will hold its closing service next Sunday morning and begin a vacation of two months. The services of the church, together with the Sunday school, have been held in the Woman's club on West Baker street since April 1, awaiting the building of a new church.

The class conducted by Howard S. Cole closed its work last Sunday, to resume regular study with the opening of the church in the fall.

On the first Sunday in September all the departments of the church's work will be located in the parish house at 303 West Peachtree street, until the erection of the new building.

GOVERNORS TO RECEIVE PUBLIC IN NEW HOTEL

Hotel Ansley, through its manager, John F. Letton, has invited Governor-elect and Mrs. John M. Slaton and Governor and Mrs. Joseph M. Brown to be its guests on Monday night, June 30.

The invitation has been accepted both by the retiring Governor Brown and the incoming Governor Slaton.

The occasion is the formal opening of the hotel which will be thrown open to the public Monday evening.

At 9:30 p. m. Governor and Mrs. Slaton, together with Governor and Mrs. Brown, will hold an informal reception in the ball room of the hotel, to which the public is invited.

Play Tie Game

ABBEVILLE, Ga., June 27.—In a very fast and exciting game of ball between Abbeville and Pitts, played on the Abbeville diamond, Pitts tied the score with Abbeville. The game had to be called at the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness, the score being 6 to 6.

It was a very pretty game and was witnessed by a large crowd.

Batteries for Abbeville: Bowen and Scripling. Pitts: Stubbs and McCorvery. Umpire, Mr. Brice Crow.

CARROLLTON, Ga., June 27.—Judge S. W. Brown, former county official and one of the best known residents of this section, died at his home here Wednesday night. The funeral was held at the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon, Rev. Jesse M. Dodd officiating.

Judge Brown leaves a wife and eight children.

Indian Girl Tries Suicide

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 27.—Stricken with grief over the death of a man with whom she had been infatuated, Annie Oceola, an Indian girl, attempted suicide here last night. The Indian girl came to Savannah a year ago when John Oceola, an Indian who had been a member of the same tribe in Florida, was arrested for forgery. Then she met John Matthis, the other man, who was drowned a few weeks ago when a rowboat overturned with him and a party of friends.

CHILD LABOR LIMIT IS RAISED BY SENATE BILL

Anderson and Kea Introduce Bills Prohibiting Labor by Children Under age of 14

Labor legislation including a bill which raises the child labor limit from eleven to fourten years by 1915 and a series of measures regulating general labor conditions, were introduced in the senate Friday. The child labor bill, which is said to have been agreed upon by textile mill owners, was sent in by J. Randolph Anderson of the First district and the other measures introduced by Senator Kea, of the Sixteenth, set forth recommendations recently made by state Commissioner of Labor H. M. Stanley.

The child labor bill provides that after 1915 no child under twelve years shall be employed in any mill, factory, workshop, laundry, public service place or mercantile establishment under any circumstances; after 1914 no child under thirteen shall be employed, after 1915 no child under fourteen shall be employed.

The bill repeals certain sections of the present child labor law as set forth in the code of 1910 providing that no child under fourteen years shall be employed who can not read or write and prohibits the employment of children between the ages of fourteen to eighteen years who have not had at least twelve weeks' schooling that year.

CHILD MUST WRITE.

For this section the following is substituted: "No child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years shall be employed unless he or she is able to read English and write a simple English sentence." The question of tests as to the child's ability to read and write are to be left by the law to the agents of the state commissioner of commerce and labor.

Senator Anderson said Friday that his bill was similar to the one introduced at the last session o fthe legislature. He declared he had been assured that the bill met with the commendation of the textile mill owners of the state.

The bill, as it seeks in part at least to raise the age limit of child labor donditions will meet with the approval of the child labor reform advocates.

Bills introduced by Senator Kea bearing the recommendation of H. M. Stanley, commissioner of commerce and labor, provide certain factory reforms recently advocated in an exhaustive report issued on Atlanta conditions by the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

STANLEY'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

The reforms provided by Senator Kea are:

To require workshops, factories and all establishments where labor is employed to report information to the state department concerning hours of labor, earnings of labor, general labor conditions and the material used in labor.

To make it unlawful for any minor to be sent to any disorderly house or immoral resort and to make it a misdemeanor to send a minor into such places on any business whatsoever.

To provide seats in stores and factories for female help, and to equip factories and workshops with sanitary conditions for workmen and workwomen.

The law against sending minors into immoral resorts was advocated by the delegates attending the Sociological congress recently held in Atlanta, and it is said will have the hearty support of persons engaged in juvenile work.

In the Anderson child labor law a misdemeanor penalty is affixed for violation of its provisions by mill owners and shopkeepers.

Misdemeanor penalties also are attached to the Kea bills on the refusal of employers of labor to report information to the state commissioner of commerce and labor.

PARIS.—After an absence of more than a year Dr. William Hunter Workman and Mrs. Bullock Workman have returned to Paris en route for London, after having carried out another great exploration feat in the Himalayas.

The party were once nearly swept away by an avalanche, and Mrs. Workman had another narrow escape.

Two of their porters were drowned.

One Chenoz, Swiss guide, broke a leg, and another tumbled into a sub-glacial river.

This is Mr. and Mrs. Workman's eighth expedition to the Himalayas. Their principal work was the exploration of about 900 square miles of new country.

SEEKING FOR A PHAGAN SUSPECT IN MACON?

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., June 27.—Two members of the Atlanta detective department left Macon last night after searching all the week her for a negro who is thought to be connected with the Phaga murder in Atlanta last April. A white woman was arrested here and put through an examination, but she could give no evidence against parties now under arrest for the crime.

When acquainted with the contents of the above dispatch Detective Chief N. A. Lanford stated that none of his men had been to Macon and that he had no knowledge whatever of any investigation being made there relative to the Phagan murder.

Resolution in House to Investigate Killing of Three Augusta Citizens

A resolution, which if adopted, will reopen the investigation into the killing of three citizens in Augusta by members of the state militia last September during the strike of employes of the street railway company, was introduced in the house Friday morning by Representative Baker of Carroll.

The resolution calls for a complete and searching investigation into the matter by a committee of seven members of the general assembly, five from the house and two from the senate.

Ten One Legged Men Sit in Row in Court

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., June 27.—Ten one-legged men sat in a row in court here yesterday when the suit of Walter Taylor against the Commonwealth Steel company of Granite City was called. Taylor against the American Steel Foundries company of Granite City was called. Taylor seks damages under the workmen's compensation law for the loss of a limo.

An offer to settle for $1,700 was made by the company and the one-legged men were in court to testify that a man crippled as Taylor is can find employment which will pay him from $2 to $3 a day. Their testimony was not heard as the court referred the case to a board of three arbitrators.

in a morning paper: 'Tom Felder is a contemptible liar, scoundrel and a coward. He is absolutely devoid of truth. He has lied so much that he doesn't know anything else. . . . The good people of Atlanta are tired of Felder. He has grafted so much upon the people of Atlanta and surrounding towns that all he can think of is graft. Apparently his system is saturated with it. He grafted upon the good people of Alanta in getting up a fund for prosecuting a murder case in which he had never been employed. I never heard of a reputable lawyer paying a man to retain him and get turned down, and then trying to impose upon the public by raising a fund on the false statement that he had been retained. He said it would require a fund of $6,000 to employ skilled detectives and the response was liberal. We would like to know what Tom Felder has done with the money subscribed."

Both Chief Lanford and Colonel Felder have been before the present grand jury on several occasions and it is said that both have denied in toto the charges made against each by the other, and at the same time asked a grand jury investigation of their controversy.

JURY MUST DETERMINE.

The action of the grand jury Friday is said to have eliminated the probability of an investigation by the jury of the dictograph incident per se.

It is said to have been the opinion of the solicitor from the first that no legal charge was involved in the controversy unless it was that of libel.

The grand jury has apparently made no effort to determine for itself the truth or the charges against Col. Felder or the charges against Chief Lanford, but has left their truth or falsity to be established by a jury.

The indictments were drawn under section 340 of the criminal code of Georgia, which makes libel a misdemeanor, the penalty being a fine of not more than $1,000 or one year in the chaingang, either or both penalties to be imposedat the discretion of the trial judge.

While it is possible that the cases will be tried in the criminal division of the superior court, it is more probable that they will be heard in the city criminal court, where most misdemeanor cases are tried, the felonies occupying the greater portion of the time of the superior court.

WHAT THEY SAY.

Colonel Felder was engaged in the trial of a case in the Thrower building, when the indictments were returned against him. He was informed of the existence of the bill, and an attache of the solicitor's office announced to him that his bond had been fixed at $250 in each case. Mr. Felder when seen by reporters said that he had no statement to make.

The bond of Chief Lanford was assessed at $500 and he will be asked to make it during the afternoon.

When told of the indictment Chief Lanford declared that he could substantiate every charge he has ever made against Mr. Felder.

It was learned after the indictments were returned that the grand jury took the matter up of its own initiative, and the bills were not presented by the solicitor's office in the ordinary manner.

It is said that the grand jury has now wiped its hands of the entire dictograph controversy.

It is known that Colonel Felder demanded an investigation and that Chief Lanford demanded a probe of their controversy, and apparently the grand jury has simply complied with the request of each man.

Joe Driscoll, the speedy Buffalo runner, will meet Abel R. Kiviat, of the New York Irish-American club, in a special mile race in the games to be held at Crystal Beach, Buffalo, on July 19.

THE SUCCESSFUL WINNERS IN PENMANSHIP CONTEST AT THE SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

The Department of Penmanship Popularizing the Big Business School.

Good penmanship is one of the greatest aids to Business College students in securing positions, and that is why the Southern Shorthand and Business University, of this city, gives special attention to this important branch.

Miss Mamie Yancey and Mr. J. M. Harding are the tie winners in the Penmanship Contest just closed at the Southern, and they were awarded the prizes.

Another contest is now on, and much interest is being taken by the large and enthusiastic class of students.

Professor R. C. Childs, the principal of the Penmanship and Business Department, is a graduate of the Zanerian Art School, of Columbus, Ohio, the finest school of pen art in the world.

MISS MAMIE YANCEY,
A Winner in the Penmanship Contest at the S. S. & B. U.

J. M. HARDING,
A Winner in the Penmanship Contest at the S. S. & B. U.

The results achieved by the pupils under Professor Childs' direction are something wonderful. The course in penmanship alone is worth the amount charged for the entire business course; but it goes in absolutely free of cost to those taking either the Bookkeeping or Shorthand course.

The business men prefer the Southern's graduates, because the Southern has stood for thoroughness: its bookkeepers are expert, and its stenographers are rapid and accurate.

"If several young persons, who were graduates of different business schools, should apply to me for a position at the same time, I would engage the one holding a diploma from the Southern Shorthand and Business University," said a prominent Atlanta business man to a prospective pupil who was making inquiry about business colleges.

Many are entering now and there is no better time to take a business or shorthand course than the present.

Salesmanship Course free to all entering for any other course before July 4. Call or write for catalog. Address A. C. Briscoe, President, or L. W. Arnold, Vice President, 10 West Mitchell Street, Atlanta, Ga.

A Determination That Will Win.

One of the most appealing passages in President Wilson's recent address to Congress on the need of prompt legislation for banking and currency reform was that in which he said:

"I know of course that the heated season is upon us, that work in these chambers and in the committee rooms is likely to become a burden as the season lengthens and that every consideration of personal convenience and personal comfort, perhaps, in the cases of some of us, considerations of personal health even, dictate an early conclusion of the deliberations of the session; but there are occasions of public duty when those things that touch us privately seem very small; when the work to be done is so pressing and so fraught with big consequence that we know that we are not at liberty to weigh against it any point of personal sacrifice."

Many members of Congress who came to hear the President in a temper of protest at the thought of a prolonged session went away not only reconciled to this prospect but heartily determined to stand by him until the laborious and urgent task is complete. Such is the persuasive and inspiriting power of Woodrow Wilson.

It is evidently the purpose of the President and his followers to stay in Washington the long summer through and, if need be, until the beginning of the regular session of Congress in December rather than leave undone the all important duty of giving the country a banking and currency law that will be adequate to business needs. Democratic leaders realize that constructive legislation of this character is more imperative now than ever before, though it has been needed early enough for long years past. If the tariff bill, now assured of passage, is to yield due benefits and is to take effect without disturbance to business, it must be accompanied or immediately followed by well considered banking and currency legislation. For, these two problems are naturally concomitant.

Tariff revision will release great forces of enterprise and of individual initiative that heretofore have been in bondage. But, as Mr. Wilson has expressed it, "We must not leave them without the tools of action when they are free. What will it profit us to be quit of one kind of monopoly, if we are to remain in the grip of another and more effective kind? How are we to gain and keep the confidence of the business community unless we show that we know how both to aid and to protect it?"

The fact is thoughtful business men the nation over are agreed that the time for a revision of banking and currency laws to meet widespread and pressing needs is ripe. The President is backed by public sentiment and public judgment in his determination to settle this vital question without further delay. And the probability is that the firmness of his position will shorten the task.

Small comfort to be told that officially it isn't so very warm.

The Georgia legislature should also keep its eye on the Atlanta baseball team.

Beyond being crazy with the heat, the Fourth of July should be as sane as any other day.

The Vital Importance of National Road Building.

It is estimated in a bulletin recently issued by the National Highways Association that during the next five-and-twenty years more than twenty-five billion dollars will be spent on the improvement and extention of the country's public roads. A well considered and well managed expenditure of this vast sum is of paramount importance to the American people. It should be made to produce the largest and most permanent measure of results possible; and, if that is to be true, this money should be applied in accordance with some carefully designed plan so that the nation may acquire a connected system of roadways adapted to its growing economic needs.

It is the belief of the Association that the surest means to this end is for the federal government to construct a series of main highways throughout the United States and then "to encourage everywhere the building of good roads as the distributing and collecting medium for the traffic of national highways." Certain it is that if these great arteries of travel are once established, they will furnish the center and the stimulus for the logical development of hundreds of other roads and will thereby make sure a national system—which, from every point of view, is the thing most to be desired.

Of the more than two and a quarter million miles of highways in the United States fewer than three hundred thousand miles are now improved, and those only in part. This fact represents a tremendous loss to business in general and to agriculture in particular. A recent writer has stated the case clearly and forcefully in this wise: "There are twenty-five million farm horses and mules, a million, six hundred thousand horse-drawn vehicles and eight hundred and fifty thousand automobiles in the United States, valued at four billion dollars. They travel over two million of miles of country roads unimproved, rutty, muddy, dirty, dangerous and over three hundred thousand miles of improved roads, such as they are. If the annual depreciation, due to unimproved roads, is only ten per cent (four hundred million dollars) this amount would build, at five thousand dollars a mile, eighty thousand miles of excellent roads. In less than five years the amount now lost in this depreciation would pay the cost of our present improved roads and in thirty years would improve the other two million miles of highways."

Federal aid for good roads is a matter in which every State and every county in the Union has vital cause to be interested. For, the establishment of a national system of highways will not only encourage the building and the improvement of thousands of miles of roads which do not now exist or which, if they do, are in a miserable condition; it will also enhance the value of every good road by linking it to a great chain of nation-wide thoroughfares.

Agricultural States like Georgia have particular reason to be interested in this enterprise, for, if there is one group of people upon which the burden of poor roads falls most heavily it is the farmers. Where a team can haul one bale of cotton a few miles in one day on a bad road, it can haul twelve bales twice as far on a good road; and the same is true in respect to the marketing of all other products. It is cheering to note that Congress has shown a growing disposition to inaugurate a plan of federal road building. This movement should have the earnest support of the people of the entire country and, particularly, those of the South.

If street cars were to run backward, how would women manage to alight?

Congressman should take heart, for the first Georgia watermelons are moving northward.

One sees now why President Wilson was so particular about the source of his campaign funds.

This weather is also hard on the magazine editor who even now are working on the Christmas editions.

The Prevention of Lobbies.

There is good reason to hope that the Senatorial lobby investigation will not only scotch a particular evil but will also lead to broad and lasting reform in this entire field of legislative interest. The tariff lobby has undoubtedly been sent packing for the nonce at least; well-timed publicity has wrought the desired result. Wrong practices which the country had long suspected but which had evaded positive proof are now clearly defined so that it is possible to devise practical safeguards against their recurrence.

And that seems to be the firm purpose of Congress. Several bills with this end in view have already been proposed or introduced. One of them provides for the registration of lobbyists at Washington, a measure similar to that now operative in a number of States. Another would draw a clearer distinction between professional legislative agents and individual citizens acting in their own behalf, or counsel representing their interests in an orderly and open manner. A watchful supervision of paid agents would undoubtedly go far toward preventing such pernicious and underhanded methods as the recent inquiry has revealed.

It is evident that one of the most flagrant abuses connected with the lobbying evil has been the indiscriminate use of Congressional franks in behalf of private and special interests. It has recently been proved that something like a million privately prepared documents attacking the proposed reduction of duties on sugar were sent through the mails without cost to the sugar combine but at a tremendous expense to the American public. Simply from a standpoint of honest business, such practices should be ended.

He does not, however, eat the acorn, since, as a rule, he is not a vegetarian. His object in storing away the acorns exhibits foresight and a knowledge of results which would seem more akin to reason than to instinct. THE PHILIPPINES

XV.—Stamping Out Epidemics.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

One of the brightest pages which Father Time will record in the book of American endeavors in the Philippine islands will be that devoted to the fight against disease and death. When the army pacified the people, moving from one conquered district across the jungles to the next, and a little later to another, until peace finally came by force everywhere, it found that its work had just begun. The forces of filth, indifference, ignorance and lack of hope had to be combatted. Rampant disease had to be grappled with. The army fought this greater fight, turning it over to other hands with the inauguration of the civil government, and the victory is still to be won, just as it still is to be won at home. When the army forced its way into a typical native village, and an active advance guard offered the main body a chance to look around and take a deep breath in comparative security, what did it find? A community thrown together as by a cyclone. Bamboo houses huddled in a chaotic heap, without form or order. If the municipality boasted thousands of people, or even many hundreds, a few irregular lanes from twenty to eighty feet wide between two rows of low shacks claimed to be streets. Fruit and vegetables lay exposed to the sun, dust and insects. Bucolic jaw-waggers sat around among the produce just as they do in rural settlements the world over, except that there they squatted barefooted on the counter.

Behind the "streets" the bamboo "residences" usually not more than three feet apart, sometimes touching one another, were perched on sticks above slime and stagnant pools where the family pig and the family dogs spent their dirty days. Above, in the one or two roomed huts, soused veterans of many a tropical storm, lived families ranging from four to ten in number, eating, sleeping, bathing together, in full view of their neighbors. Refuse was thrown out lavishly and allowed to rot there. Babies died by the thousands and adults by the hundreds.

Perhaps conditions were much better in the capital city of Manila? They were not. There was no sewer system, very poor waterworks, dirty streets, filthy yards, green-eyed bogs, and a vile moat. Public sanitation was almost unknown. Garbage was put out in the streets every night, where it stayed until midnight, when the listless garbage tenders drifted along behind a melancholy horse to gather up what the dogs and cats might have missed. The gentle custom of throwing refuse out the windows prevailed in such highly interesting residence districts as the walled city, with its streets averaging twenty feet in width, embroidered on either side by jagged stone sidewalks about two feet wide. An epidemic of some sort or other raged there every year, and malaria and dysentery were as common as colds in this country in the spring time.

This is the condition the army faced all over the Philippine islands. It was met with customary energy and resourcefulness. In Manila a central board of health was established. In the provinces officers and enlisted men were detailed as sanitary inspectors and whole squads were turned loose. At first the country's face had to be washed by force. In the mind of the average Filipino, before the light of a better understanding broke in, this ruthless tampering with his beloved ways shattered even his rights as a human being. This invasion of his home, this constant pestering of shovel-wielding strangers, this plastering with carbolic acid and lime, and this list of "thou shalt note" brought home to him even closer than the military conquest the "tyranny" of American rule. The Filipino opposed, even fought, and still regards with indifference, every attempt to give him a better chance to live.

By dint of lusty work the army scraped off several inches of dirt, and very effective work was done in Manila by Colonel M. L. Maus, and later by the late Lieutenant Colonel (then Major) Edwin C. Carter, medical corps, U. S. A., who was chief of the bureau of health even after official control passed to the civil government under William H. Taft in 1901. His work is being carried on in a most able manner by Dr. Victor G. Heiser, director of health, and Dr. R. E. L. Newberne, chief medical inspector, a veteran and seasoned hero of dozens of cholera sieges. These four men have earned the everlasting gratitude of all the Filipinos living and the generation yet unborn by their tireless work in behalf of health and sanitation. They have had many noble assistants, trained physicians in the hospitals and big-hearted inspectors who face death on the provincial firing line for the munificent salary of $1,000 a year.

Cholera and smallpox have been the most active epidemics to ravage the islands, but tuberculosis, dysentery, malaria and beriberi silently but steadily take a frightful percentage. Fifty per cent of the babies die before they are a year old. It is estimated that one of every six Filipinos is afflicted with tuberculosis.

• • •

Asiatic cholera has swept over the islands many times. When the Americans took hold Manila was one of the worst plague spot in the far east. The epidemic of 1888-89 wiped out as many as 1,000 victims a day. The scourge which raged in Manila and the island of Luzon from March 20, 1902, to March 8, 1904, was the cause of 5,511 cases and 4,386 deaths in Ma*nila, while in the several provinces there were 160,671* cases and 105,975 deaths. The people fought the authorities every step of the way. The outbreak of 1905, which began in April, was much easier to handle by reason of the organization of over 200 provincial boards of health, the usefulness of hundreds of Filipino sanitary inspectors, and a shade of co-operation on the part of the people. Nevertheless the deaths were 22,758. In 1908-09 there were 39,932 cases, in 1910-11 a total of 6,649 cases, and last year a mere handful.

• • •

Smallpox is throttled now. In the first six months that the Americans directed sanitation more people in Manila were vaccinated than in the preceding ten years. In 1903 the vaccination of everybody in the Philippine islands began. The job is almost finished. In 1907 Dr. Heiser found that there had not been a single case of smallpox in a certain seven provinces which formerly had average 6,000 deaths a year from this disease. More than 2,000,000 vaccinations are being performed annually and the grand total now is nearly 10,000,000. Prior to American occupation the deaths from smallpox were about 40,000 a year. Now the total is a few hundreds.

Bubonic plague, whose annual victims in India sometimes mount to the hundreds of thousands, and whose black hand clutches nearly all parts of the Orient, is now almost a stranger in the Philippines. The last plague case to originate in the islands was reported on April 20, 1906. Such scattering cases as there have been since then, usually from two to five cases per annum for the entire archipelago, have all been brought into the country from Mayiasia or China. In keeping down plague Dr. Heiser and his assistants follow the methods suggested by the Indian plague commission, which consists mainly in rigid quarantine and rat extermination.

Politics in the Schoolroom

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

We teach children a great many things in the public school; we instruct them in geography, and history, and botany, in drawing and classics, and manners, and other matters useful and ornamental.

But the most important thing for young Americans to know is: HOW TO GET THEIR RIGHTS. This they don't know. They grow up in the grossest ignorance about it.

Consequently, when they become citizens they are herded like Texas steers by a class of sharpers who know the herding business.

The men and women of the city know a great deal about some things, about things that are purely individual. They can make money, sell goods, get on socially, play bridge, and manufacture pins and needles. Individually they are efficient, the most efficient people on earth. As a whole people they are babes and sucklings. You cannot sell any one of them a gold brick; collectively, they buy gold bricks all the time.

You can steal their civic rights from them, get railway, gas and water franchises from them for nothing, and have them pay you for robbing them, and all they do is to stare confusedly like a Rube at Coney Island.

You can make them walk on filthy sidewalks and ride on unswept streets; you can jam them like cattle into subway cars and make them pay a fare for hanging to a strap all the way home while the company's managers are getting rich. They submit meekly, lest they be called anarchists.

You can give them poisoned food and drink. They haven't the slightest notion how to help themselves.

You can hocus-pocus them with the shell games of tariff and big business. But when they turn out one party that has broken its promise, all they know is to turn in another that will do the same.

You can drown them on rotten excursion steamers, and when they are scattered in the water you can throw them life preservers loaded with lead. You can wreck them on imperfect railways. They may sputter a bit, but nothing is lone.

You can give them wages so low and work them hours so long that they are reduced to desperation. You can house them in filthy slums, force their boys into crime and their girls into shame, and all they know how to do is to parade the streets like a lot of Indians, whoop and throw bricks, until the policemen crack them over the head and land them in jail. They never realize that it is THEIR government, THEIR city and THEIR law, or would be if they only knew how to organize and take it.

When they go to war you can give them canned goods that are decayed.

When they stay at home you can tax them with a high head and outstretched arm to get money wherewith to pay politicians who have paving contracts.

All the while they are helpless. The citizens of the United States are one huge Lambs' Club—officered by wolves.

It is because they have a contempt for the only thing in the world that can give them their rights—politics.

They are ignorant of the art of democracy, because they despise it.

They stupidly hand the business of government over to political parties, which in no sense are organizations of the people, but of interested manipulators of the people.

Hence, why not teach the children how to form and run a democracy, how to manage their own communal finances and improvements, how to select honest mayors, how to administer charities, how to abate nuisances, how to keep themselves from being constantly swindled by the officious gentlemen who so kindly volunteer to do for the people what the people ought to do for themselves.

Every child should graduate from the public school as well posted and well drilled in politics as the West Point graduate is equipped for war.

Politics is the unending war of democracy. It needs a trained citizen-soldiery. It is high time to get rid of the janizaries.

Military Value of the Canal

(Henry L. Stimson in Scribner's Magazine.)

The relation of the Panama canal to the United States has two entirely different aspects. As a commercial waterway we are interested in it in the same manner, although perhaps to a different degree, as are the other nations of the world. In respect to operations of warfare, on the other hand, its relation to our country is unique.

Again, in this relation of the canal to warfare, there are also two aspects which must be borne in mind. The relation of the canal to the efficiency of our own navy has been pretty thoroughly recognized by the American people ever since the voyage of the Oregon in 1898. It is a cardinal principle of naval strategy that, wherever situated, the main American fleet should be kept together. The construction of the canal makes the enforcement of this policy possible, and by making the fleet readily transferrable from coast to coast, for certain contingencies, virtually doubles its efficiency.

The military importance of the canal to the American nation, in a second aspect, has not been so clearly recognized by the people at large. While they have been quick to see how important it is that in time of war the canal should be open to our own fleet, it has not been equally appreciated how important it is that the canal should be closed to the fleet of our enemy. If we are ever unfortunate enough to be at war, either with a nation strong enough to have fleets in both the Atlantic and and Pacific, or with two nations, one in the Orient and the other in Europe, this difference of policy as to the canal would be vital.

"No, you're not," insisted the sergeant, "and I want to know why."

"Well, you see, sergeant," replied the soldier, "there was a dozen of us using the same mirror, and I must have shaved some other man."

PROHIS DETERMINE TO PASS HIXON MEASURE

Dangers to Early Financial and Tax Revisions Are Feared by Some

Regardless of the fact that both the outgoing and incoming administrations have emphasized the need of a revision o fthe state's finacial and tax systems as the most important legislation confronting the general assembly, and that the administration leaders in both houses will endeavor to keep the principal attention of the legislators directed upon both these propositions, the prohibitionists are determined to pass the Hixon anti-liquor shipment bill, which was introduced in the senate Thursday morning.

The prohibitionists realize that their measure will encounter stiff opposition and precipitate a long-drawn-out fight, but they express confidence in their ability to get it enacted into law, claiming that they have 140 votes in the house and thirty votes in the senate.

Those legislators who are in sympathy with the program of the new administration view the activity of the prohibitionists with considerable apprehension, for they fear that they may be able to bring about a fight that will consume a large portion of the session and divert attention from the financial and tax reforms.

It is safe to say that these questions will occupy the center of the stage until they are disposed of in one way or another, but the administration leaders are inclined to the opinion that a prohibition agitation will serve to prejudice the chances of proper revision of the financial an dtax systems.

SOUTH SIDE CITIZENS PLANNING IMPROVEMENTS

Many Addresses Made at Stirring Meeting Held Thursday Night

A meeting for the purpose of securing needed improvements on the south side was held Thursday night in the Pryor street school building for the purpose of urging the proposed new pavement on South Pryor street.

Talks urging this improvement were made by Lee F. Dreyfus, Councilman Knight, A. M. Moore, J. M. Bosworth, R. B. Deavers, C. E. Register, F. B Florence, Charles T. Smith, Press Huddleston, W. W. Dudley, Charles Kimball, J. A. Hollis and others.

Present at the meeting were several city officials, and Councilman Hall, chairman of the street committee, offered much encouragement and promised his aid in getting the work done.

Chairman Shelby Smith, of the county board, and Commissioners Waters and Winn made encouraging talks.

It was decided at the meeting not simply to ask for a new pavement from Georgia avenue to Ridge avenue, but to appoint a special committee to take up the question of grading, widening, the kind of paving material wanted, to have the chief of construction furnish a new profile, and to take the matter up in its entirety with Pryor street property owners and report back to the improvement club at its next regular meeting on Thursday night, July 3.

The following is the committee which has the matter actively in hand: C. E. Register, chairman; A. M. Moore, J. A. Hollis, R. B. Deavers, Lee Dreyful, J. L. McCord, H. Weinberg, Press Huddleston, Charles T. Smith, W. W. Dudley, J. T. Topham, J. M. Bosworth and J. J. L. Poole.

CLARKSTON PLANS BIG TIME FOR 4TH OF JULY

Speaking and Feasting Will Be Order of the Day—All Are Invited

An important meeting in conjunction with a big barbecue and ice cream festival will be held in Clarkston on the Fourth of July, the purpose of which is to discuss the proposed boulevard between Decatur and Lithonia.

Hooper Alexander and Charles B. McKinney, of Decatur, will be two of the speakers of the day. The latter will discuss the boulevard question in all its phases.

A musical program has been arranged and there will be plenty of "eats," including a barbecue, ice cream and watermelons, furnished by the ladies of the Clarkston civic circle. Everybody is cordially invited.

MERCURY PASSED 90 MARK AT NOON FRIDAY

Two more days of fair weather were predicted by the official forecaster Friday morning, with no prospect of rain or a cessation of heat before next week anyway.

The lowest temperature Thursday night was 73 degrees, which is an exceptionally high figure for even a summer night in Atlanta. At noon Friday the mercury registered 90 degrees, and it was predicted at the weather bureau that it would rise to 91 or 92 during the afternoon.

This makes eleven days during which the maximum daily temperature has fallen below 90 but once in this city. All indications point to another 'hot day Saturday.

SENATOR PERRY'S BONNET OUTSHADES HEADGEAR OF COMMISSIONER JIM PRICE

The figure of chagrin in the streets of Atlanta and the corridors of its hotels these days is that of Jim Price, state commissioner of agriculture—an official shorn of his chief distinction.

For the laurels Mr. Price wore in the shape of the largest Panama hat in Georgia have been filched ruthlessly by Senator Grant D. Perry, who has come to Atlanta from Madison county with a whale of a hat which has been the wonder of all its beholders.

There are those who assert that Jim Price owed his election to the state office on the awe he struck to the hearts of the Georgia electorate with the prodigious dimensions of his headgear, and it is certain that next to his prize farm in Oconee county the enormous Panama he continually affects is closest to his heart.

It is his boast and pride.

But when he first spied Senator Perry with a tropical lid exceeding his own in inches, Mr. Price felt at once that his unique position had vanished.

Senator Perry's hat, he says, is the largest thing of its kind yet to appear on the Atlanta horizon. It resembles most a Mexican sombrero and as a sunshade or rainshed might be used by the combined membership of the Perry family. It is the real hat of Madison county and by comparison seems to be the real hat of Georgia.

RESINOL WILL HEAL SUNBURN AND HEAT RASH

To relieve almost instantly sunburn, heat rash, prickly heat, summer eczema, ivy or oak poisoning, chafings, insect bites, and other summer skin-irritations, bathe the affected parts with Resinol Soap and apply a little Resinol Ointment. The soothing, healing Resinol balsams strike right into the surface, stop smarting burning and itching at once, allay inflammation and quickly give that cool, delightful feeling of perfect skin health.

Nothing does so much to prevent these distressing troubles and to maintain skin comfort during hot weather as the regular use of Resinol Soap for the toilet, and bath, while its clean, refreshing odor is a delight in itself. Resinol Soap is especially necessary for baby's delicate, easily irritated skin.

For 18 years Resinol has been a doctor's prescription and household remedy for eczema, ringworm, pimples dandruff, wounds, burns, sores and piles. Resinol Ointment, and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. For sample of each, with booklets, write to Dept. 47-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—(Advt.)

He Wants to Borrow One Hundred Babies

Here is a man who wants to borrow a hundred babies.

He is A. M. Smith, better known as "Mr. Lonnie," of the Baptist Tabernacle Sunday school. Mr. Smith wants the "kiddies" to take them to his Sunday school next Sunday in honor of Baby Day.

The Tabernacle has had a Mothers' Day and a Fathers' Day already. Now it's time for the babies. An attractive program has been arranged, souvenirs will be given and some prizes have been offered for the mothers.

Ten babies is the limit set for the occasion of the Tabernacle, Mr. J. W. Ayer, superintendent of the Sunday school, says that is the beginning of Spanning figures.

GRANDMOTHERS' CLUB GIVES TO YANCEY FUND

Fund Will Be Swelled Greatly by Benefit Dance at Owls Club Friday Night

The Grandmothers' club has sent its subscription to the fund for the family of the late Mr. Dave Yancey. First, it was Atlanta's youngsters, the "newsies" of the city, who gave their mite, and now the old people of the city have contributed.

A check for $2.50 has been received at The Journal office from Mrs. Josephine Kaufman, who says that it is sent by the Grandmothers' club. Another subscription not acknowledged heretofore is from Louis M. Wellhouse, for $1.

The Yancey fund will be increased considerably by the benefit dance which the Owls' club will give Friday night.

HOOPER SEES CONLEY FOR THE FIRST TIME

Attorney Who Will Aid Solicitor Hears Negro Sweeper Recite His Story

Frank A. Hooper, the attorney who will assist Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey in the prosecution of the case against Leo M. Frank, indicted for the murder of little Mary Phagan, interviewed James Conley, the negro sweeper, for the first time on Friday morning.

The attorney talked with the negro in the office of the police board for nearly an hour. Detective Starnes, who has been working under the direction of the solicitor, was the only officer with him.

Mr. Hooper simply made the trip to hear from Conley's own lips his story of the crime, and the interview is said not to have been occasioned by any new developments in the case.

Mr. Hooper said that he had the negro tell him the "whole story."

"The negro talks in a clear, straightforward manner," the attorney declared, "and his statement had the earmarks of the truth on it." Mr. Hooper characterized the negro as a "good witness."

While Solicitor Dorsey has interviewed Conley a number of times, he has never made any statement relative to the value of the negro's story in a court room nor has he said anything relative to the manner in which the negro tells his story.

The statement of Mr. Hooper, however, shows that the state places confidence in the negro's story, despite the fact that friends of Mr. Frank say that there are many weak spots in his narrative about the actions of Frank and himself on the day that Mary Phagan met her death in the pencil factory.

The name of the detective employed by the solicitor during the early investigation of the Phagan case, and referred to by Mr. Dorsey as one of the best detectives in America, was made public Friday for the first time. He is Frank B. Pond, of St. Louis, formerly a Pinkerton, and man of much experience in criminal work.

The solicitor has declared that Pond gave him many valuable suggestions, while he was at work on the case.

However, it is said that Pond has developed little in the case, which has not been made public.

Pond is now in Houston, Tex. While here he registered under different names at several of the hotels in the city, and it is said that the city detectives, thinking that he was employed by friends of Frank, shadowed him during his stay here.

Legislature to Face Propositions to Form Twenty-Three Counties

Georgians have gone stark raving mad on the subject of new counties.

Eleven delegations of enthusiasts, booming eleven new state units, have opened headquarters in the Kimball house and, it is understood, propositions to establish twenty-three new counties will be submitted to the legislature this session.

From every corner of the state pleas for new counties come and the new units are figured out from every geographical and economic angle. The Kimball house lobby looks like a wing in the hall of publicity at a county fair with signs holding forth to legislators the alluring lure of each new proposition.

The proposed counties listed in the Kimball are: Stonewall county, Stillmore, county seat; Evans county, Claxton, county seat; Hardeman county, Alma, county seat; Warner county, Manchester, county seat; Barrow county, Winder, county seat; Morris county, Brooklet, county seat; Tate county, Fairmont, county seat; Griggs county, Doerun, county seat; Candler county, Metter, county seat, and Hansel county.

The very multiplicity of new county schemes, it is said, has the members of the legislature guessing and may result in a majority of the new counties being turned down.

However, the warfare for the new units is to be carried on unceasingly and some of them are sure to be put over.

A Razor's a Weapon When It's Carried In One's Stocking

When is a razor not a razor?

Judge N. R. Broyles says, when a darky carries it in his sock or shoves it up his sleeve. At all other times a razor is just a plain razor, but up sock, stock, or sleeve it's a deadly weapon, and he who carries it is open to the rigor of the law.

The judge made this decision at police station the other day while discussing the decision of the supreme court of Mississippi, which says that inasmuch as a razor is an indispensable article of toilet, it is not a weapon.

"Mississippi may have the right idea," said the judge, "but if one of those supreme court judges saw a big darky whip a razor out of his socks and start for him, that judge wouldn't have to be told that the negro wasn't going to take a quiet little shave. The razor's a weapon then and in Atlanta will be interpreted as such."

LOWER CABLES AND BEAR PRESSURE CAUSED BREAK

Market in New York Closed 1 to 13 Points Down from the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 27.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 3 points and was nervous during the greater part of the forenoon, owing to the actual reception of the first July notices, which were estimated at about 20,000 bales, or about half the local stock. It was rumored the notices were being stopped by interest and local room bears, but their efforts to strengthen brought out some long contracts for July delivery, and this, combined with somewhat disappointing cables and favorable crop accounts, caused some scattered selling. July cotton was readily taken at a decline of 6 or 7 points, however, and the new crop held within 4 or 5 points of yesterday's closing during the early trading.

Continued liquidation of the near months and favorable weather forecast sent the general list off to a net loss of from 5 to 10 points. Later, commission houses steadied slightly on coverings and the market was 3 or 4 points up from the lowest at noon.

Continued liquidation in near months set July off to a net loss of 13 points and 3 points under August during noon board. In the market was rather steadier in the early afternoon on a bullish view of the weekly figures, rising prices 3 or 4 points from the lowest and within 2 or 3 points of yesterday's finals on the active months.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—Cotton futures opened quiet, two points down to four points up. Cables were better than due but spot was depressed by rumors that 20,000 July notices were out in New York. Reports that spot houses were shipping cotton here early and up before trading was well under way, however, at the highest in the early part of the session prices were four to five points over yesterday's close. Selling increased on the forenoon rise and a shower in weather for the western belt and a part of the eastern and at the end of the first half-hour of the call prices were one to three points under the final quotations of yesterday.

The market was dull and narrow from the middle of the morning on. At the lowest the most active months were 3 points under the closing level of yesterday. The posting of a storm warning for the Texas belt led to renewed hopes that good rains would visit the belt but did not inspire any short selling of consequence. Trading was chiefly from professionals, outsiders holding off because of the absence of the bureau reports. At noon prices were steadily held 1 point under yesterday's close.

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says: Temperatures continue favorable and some rain in the west portions of the belt. A gulf storm is expected to bring more rain. These crop predictions are based on their yield prophecies on weather data are not enthusiastic among the big crop people. During several days last week the sunshine was the most did weather, and the outlook is particularly encouraging in the western half of the belt. There is a great deal of diversity of opinion as to the status of the crop east of the Mississippi. Nevertheless the talent is now divided into two schools of thought on the crop question. One assumes that the weather will overcome all the handicaps and that in the absence of continued unfavorable conditions the crop will progress toward a monster yield. The other assumes that the weather will be the nominal indeed good weather were severe enough to have improved the crop to the extent of a bale or god, consequently they now contend that over a large area the plant is smaller than usual and for the time of year.

Weather map favorable, cloudy southwestern interior this morning, but generally fair and scattered showers with better rains in the east districts. Forecast: Generally fair tonight and Saturday, scattered showers mostly on coast district. Continued unfavorable conditions for the crop; light to moderate easterly winds on the coast.

Arkansas: Tonight and Saturday increasing cloudiness.

Oklahoma: Tonight and Saturday generally fair.

Fort Texas: Unsettled showers tonight or Saturday; moderate to brisk northeast winds on the coast with squalls.

West Texas: Tonight and Saturday increasing cloudiness; showers in southeast portion tonight or Saturday.

Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina: Generally fair tonight and Saturday.

Alabama: Cloudy tonight and Saturday rain in the northeast portion.

Kentucky: Probably fair tonight and Saturday; continued warm.

Tennessee: Continued warm; probably fair; warmer tonight; Saturday fair.

Mississippi: Cloudy; probable showers south and scattered showers elsewhere tonight or Saturday.

New York wires 16,000 July notices issued by Hubbard storage and Madden. Twenty thousand notices issued in all.

11 a. m. bids in New York were as follows: January, 11.55c; July, 11.95c; August, 11.92c; October, 11.42c.

Unofficial scene at Fort Worth wires: "One San Antonio office wires early cotton fruiting well. Half crops bulls in many fields. Expect first bale to be from district by July 10. First bale extreme southern belt should get to market week of July 20. Will be ten days earlier than expected."

Mitchell says: Unsettled and prospective buyers of July. Selling scattered and limited. Favorable weather forecast and showery weather for the western belt and a part of the eastern and at the end of the first half-hour of the call prices were one to three points under the final quotations of yesterday.

The market was dull and narrow from the middle of the morning on. At the lowest the most active months were 3 points under the closing level of yesterday. The posting of a storm warning for the Texas belt led to renewed hopes that good rains would visit the belt but did not inspire any short selling of consequence. Trading was chiefly from professionals, outsiders holding off because of the absence of the bureau reports. At noon prices were steadily held 1 point under yesterday's close.

*Highest yesterday. †Lowest for 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. 75th meridian time. xMinimum temperatures for 12-hour period ending at 8 a. m. this date. xxIncerted late; not included in averages. Note: The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from records of a number of stations, elderly in the northwest. The pressure is moderately low in the southeast.

The interesting and important features on the weather map this morning are the well developed disturbance central over Utah with the atmospheric pressure below 29.65 inches and the storm area over the northern part of Texas, showing at Brownsville with a pressure below 29.7 inches. Rains have fallen along the gulf coast from Brownsville east to Pensacola.

Temperatures are somewhat higher again, at 7 a. m. 80 degrees or over was registered over the central Ohio valley as far north as Chicago and Toledo, in Alabama, central Georgia, northwestern South Carolina and at several stations on the gulf.

Conditions will probably become favorable for a change in the weather in a day or two, but fair weather is indicated for tonight and Saturday.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS DULL AND IRREGULAR

Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio and Steel Off—New York Central Off

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 27.—Heaviness of New York Central was the distinguishing feature of the first transactions in stocks today. Opening fractionally lower, New York Central sold off promptly to 1 point under the close of the last hours of the year. Trading in the general list was light and the market did not respond fully to the advance made in London. Changes were small, being divided between fractional gains and losses.

Traders who took the long side on the strength of the foreign advices threw over their holdings soon after the opening, and the list became heavy. Particular weakness developed in Union Pacific, Reading, Southern Pacific, Lehigh and Smelting were dropped 1 to 1¼. Reports of a reactionary tendency in business in Mexico sent down the second preferred stock 3 points and preferred opened sheer selling.

After a period of hesitation in the first hour stocks took a downward course once more with the smoke coming largely from professionals. Inability to absorb offerings brought out the early short sales and prices declined 1 to 2 points. It was evident better headway could be made on the upside of the market, and as soon as there was a recession in prices a number of the more diversified. Pressure was not continuously, however, and offerings were withdrawn when resistance was met. A point or so were registered by the leading stocks.

Bonds easy.

Prolonged inactivity marked the early afternoon dealings in stocks. The only noteworthy thing which broke the market earlier in the day was the weakness in Union Pacific and Reading as took stocks as offered but showed no inclination to bid up the market.

Easing of the money markets facilitated the recovery. Reading, Union Pacific and Amalgamated made up the bulk of the movement, however, was not uniform, as Lehigh Valley, New York Central and Southern Railway displayed continued heaviness.

Active operations having ceased when the recovery was 1 to 2 points, the market withdrew from the market and speculation became dormant. Interest was chiefly confined temporarily at substantial declines. National Railways of Mexico first preferred slumped five points. Bond dealings were trivial with a preponderance of losses.

Closed steady.

News of Women and Society

Five o'Clock Tea

Miss Martha Harris will entertain a number of friends at tea Saturday afternoon at five o'clock at her home in College Park, in compliment to Miss Susie Yarborough, of Sparta.

Buffet Supper to Bridal Party

Miss Eloise Oliver and Mr. Frampton Ellis will be guests of honor at the buffet supper at which Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., will entertain this evening at their home on Fifteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis' guests will include Miss Oliver, Miss Carolyn King, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Lula Dean Jones, Miss Susie Hallman, Mr. and Mrs. William Rhett, Lieutenant and Mrs. Edward King, Mr. Royston Cabaniss, Mr. Marion Smith and Mr. Moore.

To Miss Shaw

Miss Wilhelmina Edelmann will entertain the members of her bridge club Saturday afternoon at her home on Pine street in compliment to Miss Irene Shaw, of Cartersville, who is visiting Miss Robena Shaw.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Emily Trotti McCarley was hostess at a beautiful bridge luncheon Thursday morning.

The game was played on the porch which was decorated with ferns.

A course luncheon was served at the conclusion of the game.

The table was spread with a lace cover and decorated with a plateau of daisies and crystal vases of nasturtiums. The color scheme was in varying shades of yellow.

Mrs. Mason made top score and was given a pretty plaque.

OUT OF TOWN WEDDINGS

Pass-Cannon

Mrs. George Hogsed, of Cornelia, Ga., announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Kate Hogsed Cannon, to Mr. Fred erick Davidson Pass, on Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. J. E. Ellis officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Pass left immediately for a trip east, and on their return they will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Pass.

Fletcher-Lamar

A beautiful wedding of Wednesday evening was that of Miss Ruth Lamar and Dr. H. Quigg Fletcher, of Chattanooga, which took place at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Etheridge, Rev. James Bradley, of the First Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony.

The lovely home was elaborately decorated for the occasion, a color scheme of pink and white being used in the dining room and drawing room, where the ceremony was read. In the pretty alcove, which was banked with ferns and palms and outlined with tulle and a tracery of southern smilax, the wedding party grouped beneath the large wedding bell of smilax and roses. On either side white pedestals trimmed with smilax and capped with candelabra and baskets of pink roses formed an aisle through which the bridal party passed. The ribbons were drawn from the doorways by Miss Exie Ham and Miss Clio Carmichael.

The brides' only attendant was Miss Gertrude Jossey, of Americus. She was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chine with trimmings of lace and roses. Little Miss Marie Lanier, of West Point, niece of the bride, was flower girl and carried a basket of pink rose petals. She wore a dainty lingerie frock trimmed with lace and ribbons.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Charles Winn Lamar, of Unadilla, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. George Edwin Mallett. She was lovely in her wedding gown of white crepe meteor, elaborately trimmed with pearls and duchess lace. Her real lace veil which was caught with lilies of the valley fell in graceful lines over the long court train. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies.

Mrs. Mac Potts, of Winder, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, and before the ceremony "O Promise Me" was beautifully sung by Mrs. Lamar Etheridge.

The ceremony was followed by an informal reception. In the dining room, where the ices were served, pink carnations and hydrangeas combined with ferns banked the mantel, buffet and cabinet. A large crystal bowl of carnations, with crystal candlesticks holding pink tapers on a cover of cluny lace formed the effective table decorations.

On the spacious porch, which was attractive with palms, growing plants and black-eyed Susans, punch was served by Miss Helen Carmichael, Miss Mary Lane, Miss Ruth Adams and Miss Sarah Louise Furlow.

The collection of beautiful and handsome presents were shown in the library.

Mr. and Mrs. Etheridge were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Etheridge, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Etheridge, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Furlow, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Etheridge, Mrs. C. W. Lamar and Mrs. Mac Potts.

Dr. and Mrs. Fletcher left on the 10:40 train for Chattanooga, their home, where Dr. Fletcher is prominent in the professional circles.

What Anne Ritten-house Says

IF YOU wear a scarf with your wholly low or half low gowns catch it to the shoulders or the sleeves or do something fanciful with it.

The scarf of today is by no means an ordinary bit of colorful chiffon to put about the shoulders to keep one warm. It is an accessory of the gown. It is usually made of tulle or net and sometimes chiffon, although the latter has been superseded by tulle because it is more transparent. This is an age of revealment, not of concealment, and not in all its different weaves met the demand in a surprisingly popular manner.

There are coatees which are practically scarfs with sleeves and capes that are cut to a point at back and weighted by a tassel in order that they will keep their lines. If a scarf is nothing more than a yard and a half of tulle it is thrown about the bodice as skillfully as though it was the part of the gown that counted most from the waist up, and truth to tell it is.

At the most brilliant evening events this summer women have worn from two to three yards of red, of purple, of green tulle thrown around the bodice of a black or a white decollete gown. Some of these scarfs are caught with a rose at one shoulder, which is quite a smart French trick, and then wrapped about the waist, dropping to the knees and caught there with another rose.

There are other scarfs that have been caught across the shoulder straps in order to keep the material at straight lines across the back and then, floating free, Oriental fashion, to be again caught at the wrists with slender bracelets, usually of paste jewels. Those who do not care for gems use tiny hoops of silver. The dressmakers who fashion these scarfs with the gown make the bracelets from narrow bands of rhinestone trimming.

NEW SCARFS OF LACE.

The lace business is so revived that women are finding a new way of earning a livelihood, or rather reviving a very old one. All the French salons and pieces of Belgium are working overtime to supply the demand. Therefore it is quite natural that scarfs of lace should come into fashion and that they should be the only trimming on a simple summer gown, if one so desires.

If a woman owns anything in the way of a fine lace scarf, either black or white, she should be sure to arrange it in some fanciful fashion over her shoulders and under the arms and not throw it on casually whenever she wears the gown. Chintilly shawls can be draped in this fashion and made to form one of those winglike transparent draperies that Callot invented and all the civilized world took up.

The trouble about one of these lace shawls is that it has too much body for summer drapery, and it is better when made a part of the gown and put over material instead of the skin. For summer tulles and silk net are the best choices and it does not make any difference how vivid is the color. Conservative women may not care to use blue tulle over a scarlet gown, but the majority will not mind. There will be artists a plenty to give it approval.

COATEES OF TULLE.

The latest development of the tulle scarf is a loose coatee which has elbow length kimono sleeves to drape the arms. There is sometimes a high wired collar of lace or of plain tulle, and again the casual neck drapery is held in at the bust or at the left shoulder with a huge rose of tarleton. If you have a single rhinestone or a small rhinestone buckle you might put it in the heart of the rose.

For Week-End Visits.

Every woman needs an attractive room robe when she is traveling, or if she goes off from Friday to Monday to visit friends. Crepe de chine is an admirable material, but some of the new weaves of it wrinkle at a touch. A thick quality of China silk is always admirable and the wash silk in purple and white, or blue and white stripes are attractive. The latter have a good deal of character to them. One model is of lavender and white stripe with a high empire belt of Persian ribbon run through straps of the material at sides, back and front. There is a cape collar of the ribbon edged with beading and ruffling of lace and through the beading is run black velvet ribbon.

The loose sleeves are trimmed in the same way and at the left side, above the waist, there is a small pocket of white lace in which is a white and purple handkerchief.

Christian-Hopkins

THOMASVILLE Ga., June 27.—A marriage of wide social interest was that of Miss Honorine Hopkins, of this city, and Mr. James Royall Christian, of Savannah, which took place Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. G. Hopkins, on Dawson street.

It was a quiet home wedding at which only relatives and a few close friends were present.

In the decorations throughout the house pink and white roses and pink and white carnations were lavishly used. In the front parlor where the marriage ceremony was performed tall palms and feathery ferns were grouped forming at one end of the room an effective background against which the bridal couple stood.

The attendants were Miss Helen Baker and Mr. Earnest Ayer, Miss Fraser Mitchell and Mr. Heyward Hopkins, Miss Ruth Williams, of Macon, and Mr. Milton Ellis, of Savannah. Miss Magdalena Isler, of Waycross, and Mr. William Hopkins, Miss Margaret Hasbacen, of New York, and Mr. William Wall, Miss Eleanor Hopkins and Mr. Nathan Ellis, of Savannah. The maid of honor, Miss Cecle Hopkins, came in alone preceding the bride, who entered with her brother. Mr. James Hopkins, and was met by her groom with his best man, Mr. Donald Stuart, of Savannah. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. L. McCarty, of the Presbyterian church, and at its close Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

The bride was a picture of girlish loveliness in her handsome gown of white crepe meteor and lace. The corsage had an effective garniture of the lace and the round neck was embroidered with seed pearls. The skirt had a drapery of lace and the long tulle veil had a lace cap fastened on with a coronet of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was charmingly gowned in pink crepe meteor and her bouquet was pink carnations. The pretty gowns of the bridesmaids were of white chiffon over white satin with pink sashes and pink slippers, their bouquets were pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian left on the midnight train for Tybee where they will spend a short time before taking a trip north.

Among the out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Christian, Mrs. Edwin Royall, Mr. Donald Stuart, Mr. Milton Ellis and Mr. Nathan Ellis, of Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mallard and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mallard, of Brunswick, and several others.

The Evening Story

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

THE ROOM OPPOSITE

There were violets and daffodils on the street stalls and Julie glanced at them longingly, longingly, as she crept past on sore feet. Her way led to Mrs. Morley's boarding house, three stories high, with a basement, of red brick, with green shades, and a front door which sadly needed fresh varnish. But that front door had already become the most familiar and welcome sight in the whole city to Julie. It meant security and shelter, both of which she had learned in the space of three weary months to value as never before.

Julie had her own latch key and she let herself into the dark hall, in which a refined nostril could detect cabbage, cod gas, cigarette smoke, onions, and burned fat.

Three flights of stairs after a whole day of standing behind a counter is back breaking business, but Julie finally reached her own particular cubbyhole. It was close and musty, for the spring sun had warmed the brick walls all day. "Ugh!" she said. Then she ran to the window and up went the sash high and wide. She parted the dingy sash curtains and looked out. A wide open window had meant for her hitherto a vision of outdoor things. Here it meant only a view of another window with a coin dotted sash curtain and a green shade in a red brick wall. Julie vaguely remembered hearing somebody say somewhere that the building was another boarding house and a strong rival of Mrs. Morley's.

The cool inflowing air freshened the room and Julie, reviving, remembered that she was hungry. She was supposed to take her meals out, but six luncheons a week were the only meals she did not manage in her room. Those consisted invariably of a sandwich and a cup of tea. Last night she had smuggled in by way of her pillow muff a loaf of bread, half a dozen presumably fresh boiled eggs, a small bag of cakes and some peanut butter. Her regret now was that she hadn't smuggled in more for with daffodils out there was no longer the slightest excuse for a muff.

Her housekeeping tools, which she kept out of sight in the closet in case Mrs. Morly or that Bridget of hers should take a fancy to them, consisted of a tiny frying pan and porcelain basin. er Hitchen fire was, of course ,he gas jet. She made her some tea and set her dinner out upon a corner of the bureau reserved for that purpose. A book, which she had got from the public library, commanded her. It made her forget the stuff she was eating ,an dalso the fact that she was eating alone.

She was in the act of sprinkling salt on her second boiled egg when she heard a sound that nearly made her drop the egg on the questionable carpet. Somewhere near by a man had begun to sing i na rich, flowing tenor. Such a voice! So moving! So exquisite! It brought tears to her eyes—made her shiver deliciously—although she could not yet make out a word of the song. Julie listened for a moment in awed astonishment before she realized that those glorious sounds came in through her open window; then she perceived that the voice came to her through the window of the room opposite. She could now, indeed, hear each word perfectly. They were the words of a love song.

Julie's voice got angled in a sob. Her ehad went down. She got up and went back to her cold boiled egg and her cooling tea, but she no longer had appetite for the food. And while she sat pondering whether she should try to eat a little more that charmed voice rose up again and again called her to the window.

By the time he had sung the song through twice again she knew it word for word. She knew something else also. She thought. The man was practicing. He was a singer. What a marvelous song bird that opposite room must cage!

He was singing the same song again when she went to sleep that night, and the words came to her like the fragrance of lilacs. She dreamed of the singer.

When she woke the next morning the vision she had of him came into reality with her. Oh, if she could but catch a glimpse of him to see if he and her dream of him mated! And yet if they should not!

He sang to her while she was boiling her ten over the gas jet, and again while she was drinking it. She had a feeling that he sang to her alone, and that there was a special meaning in his voice for her. All that desperate dark day in the midst of a mad spring sale that feeling warmed her heart and sustained her. And when 6 o'clock came she hurried home to the voice—and him.

Again he sang her to sleep. Again she dreamed of him. Again she woke to the sweet consciousness that he was near. Again he sang to her while she ate her last egg and scraped her peanut butter jar clean on her last scrap of bread.

"Tonight," she thought, "I've got to smuggle in some more eatables from the delicatessen shop. And I no longer care if it's muff!"

It was a rather dull day after the big sale of the day before. Shortly after 12 Julie sought the little cheap restaurant around the corner. "Two lettuce sandwitches and a cup of tea," she ordered.

Apprised by something unusual in the ensuing silence she lifted questioning eyes and met another pair of eyes equally amused. "Well, is that all you eat?" said the owner of the eyes.

"Led Spaulding!" Julie gasped. The card fell and all the color in her starved body seemed to flow over her pale face.

The amusement in the keen hazel eyes melted into something more tender and gentle as he took the vacant chair opposite and reached a sinewy brown hand across the table for hers. "How-do, Julie? Glad to see somebody from home?" he inquired.

"Glad!" Julie gasped, with tears straining close to her eyes. "Oh, if you knew! But how—"

He released her hand, folded his arms, laid them on the table and across them, looked at her smiling. "Do you know," he said, "I've tried every darn restaurant in this town and I haven't found a bit of decent cooking yet—the kind of cooking my mother makes when I'm home. It's enough to make a fellow throw up his job. And I've only held mine two weeks. What do they give you here besides excelsior biscuit and sky blue milk. Julia? Let's see."

He took up the menu card, glanced over it, made a motion to the waiter and began to order. His temerity differed so from her timidity that she marvelled at what he had acquired in two weeks' stay in the city. But then he had visited all the restaurants. Her mind wandered back from continuing retrospect as she heard him ordering two strawberry sherbets.

"Oh, you mustn't!" she objected. "Not for me."

He smiled. "What! Do you think

THAT CHARMED VOICE ROSE UP AGAIN AND AGAIN AND CALLED HER TO THE WINDOW.

I'm going to eat alone?" he asked.

It was amazing how quickly that waiter moved. Still more amazing were the things he brought. Sherbet, bouillon, fish, steak, lyonnaise potatoes. By this time Julie's eyes were sparkling and her cheeks aflush. She realized that she was no longer faint and starved, but deliciously fortified and replenished in soul and body. "What brought you away from the farm?" she asked.

"Oh, I don't know. Just a spirit of adventure, I suppose," he answered evasively. "But say, do you know, Julie, I've never been so lonesome in my life as I've been this week past here, where you don't see anything but folks. Folks! Folks! everywhere, and not a soul you know!" He laughed. "I've looked for you high and low. That's why I've visited every restaurant"— He stopped in confusion, coloring under his healthy tan. "What do you think I did two or three days ago? I bought a phonograph. Gee, it was steep. And up to date. I've only found one record I liked. I've played that till I guess the folks around me must be crazy. Last night the fellow in the next room threw his shoe at the wall and yelled, 'If you play "Forgotten" again I'll give you something that you won't forget!'"

Julie's eyes were big and wide. "Forgotten!" she gasped. "Then you—you"— She crushed her face into her palms, laughing, and yet half crying. "Oh, Led, if I'd known!"

He leaned toward her across the little table his strong face all tenderness. "If you'd known what, honey? Tell me," he pleaded.

And Julie told him.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as a new prescription othine—double strength—has been discovered that is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from Jacobs' Pharmacy, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. (Advt.)

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

When Prickly Porky the porcupine, and Old Man Coyote, the Prairies Wolf, met beside the Laughing Brook, it was a case of slow wit meeting quick wit. You see Prickly Porky is very slow in everything he does, that is, everything but flipping that queer tail of his about when there is an enemy near enough for it to reach. But in everything else he is, oh, so slow! He walks as if he had all the time in the world to get to the place he has started for. He climbs in' just the same way. And because he never moves quickly he never thinks quickly. The fact is, he doesn't see any need of hurrying in anything not even in thinking.

But old Man Coyote is just the opposite. Yes, sir, he is just the opposite. No one moves quicker than he does. He is nimble on his feet and his wit is just as quick.

His nimble wit and nimble feet Are very, very hard to beat.

Digger the Badger, who also comes from the Great West, says that to beat Old Man Coyote in anything you should start the race before he does and not let him know it.

So here was Slow wit facing Quick Wit with most of the little meadow people and forest folk looking on. Suddenly Old Man Coyote sprang forward with his ugliest snarl, a snarl that made everybody but Prickly Porky shiver, even those who were perfectly safe up in the trees. But Prickly Porky didn't shiver. No, sir, he just grunted angrily and rattled his thousand little spears. Now Old Man Coyote had sprung with that angry snarl just to try to frighten Prickly Porky, and he had taken care not to spring too close to those rattling spears. When he found that Prickly Porky wasn't frightened the least little bit he tried another plan. Perhaps he could get Prickly Porky from behind. As quick as a flash and as light as a feather he leaped right over Prickly Porky and turned to seize him from behind. But he didn't. Oh my, no! You see the thousand little spears covered every inch of Prickly Porky's back. Slowly and clumsily Prickly Porky turned so as to face his enemy.

"Got fooled that time, didn't you, Mr. Smarty?" he grunted, while his eyes snapped with anger.

Old Man Coyote didn't say anything. He just grinned. But all the time he was using his eyes, and now he discovered that while Prickly Porky was fully protected on his back and sides by the thousand little spears carried in his coat, there wasn't a single little spear in his waistcoat.

"I've got to get him where I can seize him from underneath," thought he, and straightway he began to run in a circle around Prickly Porky, while the latter turned slowly round and round, trying to always keep his face

Dance at the Hotel Ansley

Although the courtesy of the hotel management the Joseph Habersham chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will open the ball room of the new hotel with a dance on Friday evening, July 4.

The orchestra of the hotel will furnish a beautiful musical program and refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

All friends of the chapter who are interested in their patriotic historical research work are urged to attend, as are all votaries of the Terpsichorean art.

Several new dances will be given, among which will be the Argentine, Tango, and the festivities of the evening will close with the old-fashioned Virginia reel in which all present will join.

Tickets will be one dollar, and may be had from any member of the chapter.

Making the Real Home

Someone has called the real home a "happy combination of conditions." It is just that. No one thing alone makes a home, but various elements happily combined.

Naturally a factor in the combination is money. It is not so much the possession of money or the lack of it that counts, as the way in which it is used.

Generally speaking, men are the money getters, and women are the money spenders. This system puts a great responsibility on the women. The woman is, in the final analysis, the home maker, and if her home is to be a real one she must spend the family income wisely, be it great or small.

There is no surer way for her to make each dollar bring its full value of comfort and good cheer than by keeping herself informed as to what is in the market, where it is to be had, and at what price; by reading each day the advertisements in THE JOURNAL.

The Atlanta Journal

CLUB RECEPTION BEAUTIFUL EVENT

Automobile after automobile followed the poplar bordered drive which leads to the Capital City Country club yesterday depositing the occupants on the broad porch of the club house, which soon looked like a terrace of flowers with the pretty frocks and hats of the feminine portion of the guests.

The reception marked the first formal entertainment of the club since its lease by the Capital City club as its country home, Mr. and Mrs. Maddox receiving the guests assisted by the members of the board of directors and other officers.

The porches which extend on all sides of the attractive house were filled with tables at which refreshments were served and beautiful views of the lake, tennis courts and golf links cut through the pine groves showed beyond the flower boxes filled with blooming plants and shrubs harmonizing with the attractive groups seated at the tables.

Each table had a lovely decoration in fever few and glaioli from the gardens of Woodhaven and adding to the picturesque effect were magnificent hydrangeas filled with blue and pink bloom which were also from Mr. and Mrs. Maddox' gardens.

Captain English made a delightful little talk complimenting the club members and the president to which Mr. Maddox responded in characteristic vein.

Lanterns and electric lights on the porches and in the trees about the club made the picture a brilliant one after twilight lights across the lake outlining its mirroring surface and making it look like the starlit sky above.

Dancing began at 9 o'clock the several hundred guests enjoying the broad sweep of polished floor of the club rooms.

Dr. and Mrs. Shallenburger, Judge and Mrs. W. T. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. David Woodward, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Hoke, Mr. and Mrs. Dan B. WEDDINGS

Chambliss-Whitaker

Of interest to a wide circle of friends in Atlanta is the marriage of Miss Nelson Chambliss, of Chattanooga, to Mr. Samuel Estill Whitaker, also of Chattanooga, which will take place on Monday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. Chambliss, on Bluff View.

Only relatives and intimate friends will assembly for the ceremony which will be one of the most interesting of the June season.

The Rev. Dr. John A. Chambliss, of the Baptist church and a veteran of the Confederate service, having been a chaplain under General Lee, will perform the ceremony.

Miss Chambliss is one of the prettiest young girls in Chattanooga. She comes of splendid old Tennessee families. Mr. Whitaker is one of the prominent young lawyers of the Mountain City and like his bride is of old Tennessee people.

McCowan-Morse

A beautiful wedding of much interest was that of Miss Lillian Morse, of Forsyth, Ga., and Mr. Joseph Stewart McCowen, of Sioux City, Iowa, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Morse, on June 25th at high noon.

The house was beautifully decorated with quantities of hydrangeas and oleanders. White and green was the color scheme used in the parlor and dining room. Pink hydrangeas formed the principal decoration of the room in which the many handsome presents were displayed and in the hall through which the bridal party passed into the parlor.

The bridal party entered to the strains of the Mendelssohn march played by Miss Elizabeth Willkinson, of Newnan. The flower girl, Miss Eleanor Rutherford, accompanied by her page, Master Thomas Talmadge, entered first, scattering rose petals from a lovely rose decked basket. They were followed by little Miss Margaret Johnson, a niece of the bride, carrying the ring in a tiny silver cup.

The bridal party stood before an improvised altar of rich green foliage studded with magnolias, while on a pedestal on each side were tall flower vases filled with ...ese wax-like blossoms.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. M. Dixon.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon, elaborately trimmed with shadow lace and a most becoming white picture hat. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and valley lilies. The little ring-bearer and flower girl wore dainty lingerie frocks and the page a suit of white.

Following the ceremony a reception

Murray Donnell, Messrs. James and Ralph Ragan, Mr. Hal Hentz, Mr. Samuel Slicer, Mr. Milton Dargan, Jr., Mr. Clinton Prescott, of Louisiana; Mr. Sam Carter, Mr. Arthur Clarke, Mrs. Nell Reid, Mr. Lynn Werner, Mr. Edward Alfriend, Mr. Winter Alfriend, Mr. Lee Edwards, Mr. Henderson Hallman, Mr. James Callaway, Mr. W. B. Stovall, Mr. Turner Carson, Mr. Eugene Kelly, Mr. Edward Peeples, Mr. Joseph Nash and M. Canton.

The Last Prize Picture Has Been Published But You Still Have Plenty of Time to Select Correct Titles to the Seventy-Five Prize Pictures

You can get the complete set of pictures, the catalogue containing all the titles and the Answer Book, giving you the right to ten answers on each picture.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the plan, we will briefly explain it:

Each of The Journal's 75 prize pictures represents the title of one book. You have the right to ten answers on each picture. Prizes aggregating $7,000 are to be given to contestants who will secure the most correct answers. You can get all these answers out of The Journal's new catalogue and you can secure all of the pictures at 2c each; the catalogue will cost you 25c at the office or 27c by mail; the Answer Book 80c at the office or 90c by mail. As we give the first thirty-five pictures free with the Answer Book, you will only have to buy the other 40 at 2c each. The Answer Book, catalogue and all the pictures will cost you $1.97 by mail, or $1.85 at The Journal Office.

Supplies can be secured until 10:00 P. M., July 12th. Positively none sold after that.

Then one whole week to get answers into The Journal Office.

Race in National League Draws Closer--Valdosta Wins Flag

Pick Atlanta Stars to Win Tennis Titles

Nat Thornton Looked Upon to Take Singles While Grant and Thornton or Smith and Mansfield Will Cop in the Doubles

BY SAM L. GILBERT.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 27.—Atlanta players almost monopolized things in the southern tennis championship tournament at the New Orleans club courts Thursday, for not only did veteran Nat Thornton defeat Emold Phelps, the local pride, and thereby get in the finals against "Teste" Adoue, the Dallas player who won his semi-final against Bob Shelton, but they won two matches in the third round of the doubles. The singles semi-finals were great.

Friday morning the finals in the singles will be played at 10 o'clock, and in the afternoon the winner will play the challenge round against Carlton Smith, the 1912 holder of the southern title.

Adoue is in the finals against Thornton. This match will be a most exciting one. The two players are well matched and there is some class to each, though their style of game differs radically. Adoue's greatest assets are his drives, and his strength, while Thornton relies more on killing and quickness. Thornton reached the finals by defeating Esmond Phelps in straight sets. *In the first set Phelps has not be*gan to warm up. He was putting his first service out and his driving was mild. Thornton won easily at 6-0. Phelps started the second set by winning his service. He had settled down considerably and was doing some brilliant placing. For a time it looked as though he would set the set, as he held Thornton at 4-2. But Phelps could not help lobbing and Thornton's killing was fatal. Although Phelps used his head and placed the ball from side to side Thornton was all over the court at once and returned the balls speedily. Thornton won out at 6-4.

Thornton and Grant began their match against S. E. Worms and Gus Worms by losing the first set. The wind plainly bothered the Atlanta team, while Worms brothers were playing classy tennis. S. E. Worms has a fast going serve that it is hard to return, and while Gus Worms' service is easy, it is also safe, and S. E. does beautiful work at the net. Thornton was way off his game this set. The Worms brothers won at 7-5. The rest of the match was put off until the afternoon on account of the rain. Grant and Thornton came back much stronger, but, on the other hand, S. E. and Gus Worms had gained confidence and were working together in fine style. Thornton and Grant won the set at 6-2, but the contest was closer than the score indicates. There were many long rallies, and most of the games went *to deuce. One of the factors mak*ing for the success of the Grant-Thornton team was Grant's serve. This serve comes over the net slowly, but has a peculiar twist to it which generally makes the receiver return it into the net. Thornton's net playing was snappy. Every time he touched a ball in the air it was a sure point. S. E. and Gus Worms did some mighty pretty driving right between their opponents. Grant and Thornton got the last two sets, 6-4, 6-0, but there was no loafing in their playing.

SIZZLING RACE IN THE BIG MINOR; MILWAUKEE IS BATTLING COLUMBUS

The Milwaukee (Wis.) team of the American association, oft times called the "big minor," and again the "little major league," is fighting for the lead of the organization with the Columbus (Ohio.) team.

Milwaukee is up there because of three influences. The first is the surprisingly good management of the veteran infielder, Harry Clark, who last fall succeeded Hugh Duffy as helmsman of the Brewers.

The second influence is the pitching of Charley "Doc" Watson, "the million-dollar left-hander," for whom Clark expects to realize more real money than Barney Dreyfuss paid for Marty O'Toole, this fall.

The third influence is Chappelle, an outfielder, who is the Ty Cobb of the American association. Chappelle is ripe for the majors. He is a good hitter, a wonderful base runner, a corking good fly chaser, and he has a wonderful arm. He also is destined to "go up."

WHEN BATTERS IMPROVE SHUTOUTS ARE SCARCE

SOUTHERNERS FOR A DAY

Derrill Pratt—The old Montgomery crack hit safely one time in six trips to the pan. He accepted all six chances.

Al Bridwell—Batting against Brown, of Cincinnati, the ex-Cracker poled one hit in three trials. He had two putouts and one assist.

Otto Hess—The big southpaw who once hurled for New Orleans was hit unmercifully by the Giants. He allowed six runs in one round. However, he hit safely the only time he faced the Giant flinger.

Doc Johnston—The ex-Pel was unable to get a hit in his three trips to the plate, yet he tallied one run and had eight putouts.

Clyde Stengel—The Brooklyn outfielder once with Montgomery was up ten times in the two games with the Phillies and hit safely just once.

Zack Wheat—This star outfielder hit safely four times and scored one run in ten trips to the pan. One hit was for two bags and he swiped a base.

Jake Daubert—Daubert was at bat nine times, scored one run and made three hits. He swiped one bag and had twenty-six chances without an error.

Carlisle Smith—This Atlanta boy made three hits and three runs in ten times up. Two of his hits were for two bags.

Nap Rucker—The Alpharetta marvel pitched thirteen innings against Philadelphia, giving up ten hits, fanning four and walking two. He also rapped out a hit.

George Paskert—The ex-Cracker did not hit go well, getting one hit in ten times up.

Covaleskie Leads the Bunch of Hurlers at Applying Brush With Four to His Credit, Lookouts Lead

You don't often hear a baseball fan returning from any Southern league park bragging about any shutout battles, for this season they are just about as scarce as hen's teeth, just forty-four being hung up this season, and you must remember that many games have been played. The two shutout games of Wednesday, one by Atlanta and the other by Chattanooga, brought up the mark a bit.

Most all of the shutout battles that have been played this season came early in the race and when you slip over a blankety game right now it is a sure sign that the hurler is "going some." This makes the shutout games of Wednesday by Joe Conzelman and Pole Covaleskie all the more remarkable. The batters have had time to get their batting eyes trimmed exactly right and they are now worrying the best.

The league began work about the middle of April and during the first two weeks of play fourteen of the forty-four shutout games were pitched. This was before the batters had used their eyes enough to get accustomed to the swift slants sent up by the hurlers and while the pitchers were in form in view of their long spring work. It is easier for a pitcher to get his arm going properly than for a batter to get his eyes trimmed to properly meet the ball. The hurlers have only to practice pitching while the boys who do the batting have to work in the field just as strenuously as they do at the plate, it being just as important to save games by good fielding as to win them by hitting.

SHUTOUTS IN MAY.

In May there were twenty-one games where one team failed to cross the pan. This brings the total number of shutouts to thirty-five for the months of April and May and explains that just nine shutout battles have been waged this month with just four more days to go. The ever decreasing number of shutout games explains better than any other feature just how rapidly the batters are gaining their batting eyes and what hard times the hurlers are having.

Chattanooga leads the league in administering shutouts, with eight such battles. Of this number Covaleskie has worked four, or just half. Chattanooga, too, has been shutout more than any other club, the Lookout delegation being blanked eight times during the campaign and for many of these battles the Atlanta bunch is responsible.

All of the clubs have been mixed up in the shutout contest in one way or the other. Each has won shutout games and lost them, though Chattanooga is best at this little game and the New Orleans outfit is worst. New Orleans has won but two shutout games and have lost nine such affairs.

WORK OF HURLERS.

Of all the shutout games hung up to date the battle between Swindell, of New Orleans, and Parsons, of Memphis, was probably the best. These two hurlers went for an even dozen rounds without allowing a runner to cross the pan. And the game was a corker in every other respect, not star fielding, but crack hurling preventing any scores.

Gilbert Price, of Atlanta, takes the palm for handing on the whitewash court more lavishly than any other in the league. Gil beat the Birmingham Barons 10 to 0 in one of his shutout battles, the Barons being utterly helpless, while the Molesworth flinger was hit unmercifully.

Pole Covaleskie leads all flingers at using the whitewash brush with four such games credited to him. And all four of Pole's shutouts have been registered of late, the Hurling Hun appearing to be in bad shape during the early part of the season, while of late he has been flinging like a champ, his job depended upon it. The result has been four shutouts and all have been made against teams that are known to boast of some good batters.

Among the other hurlers who have hung up several shutouts are Heck, Kissinger, Parsons, Summers and Cavet with three each; Musser, Prough, Horg, E. Brown, Manning and Campbell with two each and several who are credited with one.

Few Notes On Games

The Giants gained two laps on the Phillies Thursday. While they were trouncing the Braves in a double bill, the Phillies dropped two to Brooklyn. The Giants are only four games behind the leaders now.

It took fourteen innings to defeat Expo Kilday, the ex-Virginia star and break the winning streak of the Phillies, and it was our ancient and honorable friend, Nap Rucker, who turned the trick. Nap was the one used in doing this little job, that after singling in the thirteenth he was overcome by the heat and had to retire to the club house leaving Curtis to finish that game and pitch the second game of the doubleheader.

Cobb appeared in the Browns-Tigers game yesterday in a new role, that is, that of a second baseman, and failed to connect, but his teammate, Crawford, a few minutes later cleaned the bases with a homer which tied the game up for fourteen innings.

The Athletics indulged in a field day Thursday, slaughtering Griff's pitchers for a total of 27 hits in two games.

The Sally has gone right into the second half of their season. It started with Savannah winning again.

Cary Thompson, the ex-Georgia star who has been turned back by Molesworth to New York, showed that he had some stuff yesterday by going in in the fourth and pitching brilliant ball for the Barons.

Dan Senno, the little centerfielder who performed for the Barons last year and is with the Cedar Rapids club this year, has been inspected by a big league scout and may land a berth.

COBB VS. JACKSON

Ty Cobb returned to the game Thursday, but in a new role, that of pinch hitter. He was up once and failed to connect.

Jackson has not yet returned to the game and from the statement given out by Ban Johnson yesterday that he will not relentlessly on the rough stuff, it is doubtful whether Jackson will get back before week after next.

It is understood negotiations are now under way to match McCue with Featherweight Champion Kilbane or with Dundee should the latter by any possible chance get a decision over the Clevelander in their coming session.

McNEIL TO RACE RICHARDS IN MOTORDROME FEATURE

By barring Jack McNeil and Wilmer Richards from the two big races at the motordrome Saturday evening and at the same time arranging a special com*petition for them*, the speedway management has hit the best scheme yet tried. These two racers have won practically all the prizes offered in the races run to date and so as to give the other racers a chance to shine, they have been cut out of the purse and sweepstake events.

McNeil and Richards have never real*ly* cut loose themselves and tried to break any speed records. Usually they have been content to knock along at a moderate clip and win hands down, but Saturday night it is to be different. A purse of $100 has been hung up for a race between the pair, and you can just bet they are going out to get around the saucer.

The feature race between this pair calls for three heats of three miles each, thus giving them plenty of time to properly tune their machines. If they happen to go bad in one heat they have two others in which to show their speed. Each racer contends he has the faster machine and neither is afraid to back it.

While the McNeil-Richards race will be a thrilling event the taking of this pair from the other two big races will tend to make them better. It will not resolve itself into a one-sided event and the riders who are entered will always be more closely bunched and get away with better time than they have been accustomed to turning out. The motordrome purse race will be of two heats of two miles each and the final for three miles. The sweepstake event will be of two heats for two miles each and the final for three miles.

The new arrangement will throw four riders in each heat and thus make it more thrilling. And though McNeil and Richards are barred from the two big races there are plenty of good riders to make these matches close and fast.

Batting Fest For Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27.—Memphis took a 13 to 2 fall out of the Crackers today, and great was the fall thereof. Hits of all shapes and sizes were the secret of the affair, nineteen of them for a total of thirty-one bases being accredited to the Turtles, while the Crackers could only connect safely for nine times at irregular intervals.

Dent, who was the first to face the music, did not last for a round, in fact the first four men who faced him enjoyed two singles, a sacrifice fly and a four-sack smash counting two runs. After the last love lick Dent gave way to Musser, who did not fase much better. The Turtles did not turn aloose until it thundered, and the thunder was a long way off. Before the first inning was up three more tallies had been counted, and Atlanta was five runs behind Memphis.

In the third the Turtles took another strange hold on the bases. With two out Shanley singled and stole. Seibough singled and Shanley counted. Parsons gave a surprise party to everyone by getting a triple. Musser heaved wildly and Parsons scored. One more of Memphis' runs came in the fourth and four were counted in the seventh.

Every man on the Memphis team hit safely twice but Schweitzer and Abstein and Shanley are both credited with three safeties, two apiece being for extra bases. Wallop Smith and Tommy Long were the only men who had Parsons' number, getting five of Atlanta's nine hits. Three of these went to Wallop.

Atlanta's runs came in the fourth and fifth, Wally Smith's triple being responsible for the two in the fifth.

BUNTS AND BINGLES

BY JULIAN MURPHEY

When the only chance the crowd has to cheer is when the umpire catches one of the nice balls thrown from the home players' bench it is indeed a sure sign that the home club is in bad straits.

BATTERS GOING BETTER.

The Southern league players now out for the 1913 batting honors seem to be going far better than in any past season. And there are more stars bunched in the fight for the honor than ever before. This seems a hard rap at the pitchers, but such is not the case at all. Some of the flingers are pitching just as good ball as ever and at the same time the hardest hitters are keeping up their averages.

Take the cases of Kid Elberfield, Fave Robertson, Tommy Long, Wallace Smith, Harry Welchonce, Knisely and Sloan. They are all stinging the pill better than Southern league stars of the past and yet Pole Coveleskie, Gilbert Price, Rudy Summers and a few other hurlers are going just as well as any pitchers who have worked in this circuit in many a day. The fact that both hurlers and batters are going good illustrates the fact that the class of ball now being turned out is above that of the past races.

The ideal combination for a prize fighter in this day and time seems to be an Irish name, a Hebrew mother and an Italian father.

EVERS QUIETEST MANAGER.

Connie Mack, the wise leader of the Philadelphia Americans, has long been regarded as the quietest manager in the game, but later developments proves the assertion that he has nothing on one John J. Evers, what at the present time is having his troubles trying to keep the Chicago Cubs in the race. And not only is Evers quiet when it comes to giving out a bit of information, but he is a crab of the purest type.

Evers is the kind of quiet manager who refuses to tell you anything and then gets extremely sore because you have pried into his business. Mack is a man who don't tell you much of his business but he goes about it in an extremely nice manner and makes friends at the same time he is refusing to tell you what you wish to know.

And to get an idea on the difference in the type of the two just take a look at the club standings of the Philadelphia Americans and Chicago Cubs.

Fans who happen to see Kutina, of Montgomery, going down to first base find a lot of enjoyment if the day happens to be shot. They say he moves like an ice wagon.

STARTING SECOND SEASON.

Most all of the Class B, C and D leagues are now just about ready to start their second season. It has become a custom in the smaller circuits to split the season and in this way have two pennants, the winners of each playing for the championship. The South Atlantic league is the first to finish the first season. It is probably best to make this division, especially if the race is one-sided. It serves to keep up enthusiasm and aids in keeping a lot of good men from starving for the lack of a position.

BALES GOES DOWN,

MEMPHIS, June 27.—Bill Bales is billed for Clarksdale, Miss. The Cleveland, Tenn., youth doesn't get any further trial just now. It is understood that Bernhard will keep a string attached to him, and that if he commences to show that he has regained his batting eye of 1912 he will be yanked. Bernhard would not say this morning when Bales would be handed his transportation, but intimated that in all probability he would be a passenger on one of the night trains.

Covington Loses Franchise

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 26.—At a meeting of the magnates of the Federal league here today the franchise held by Covington, Ky., turned over to the league a few days ago, will be awarded to another city. Toledo, Kansas City, Detroit and Milwaukee promoters are bidders. Kansas City or Toledo, it is said, probably will be taken into the circuit.

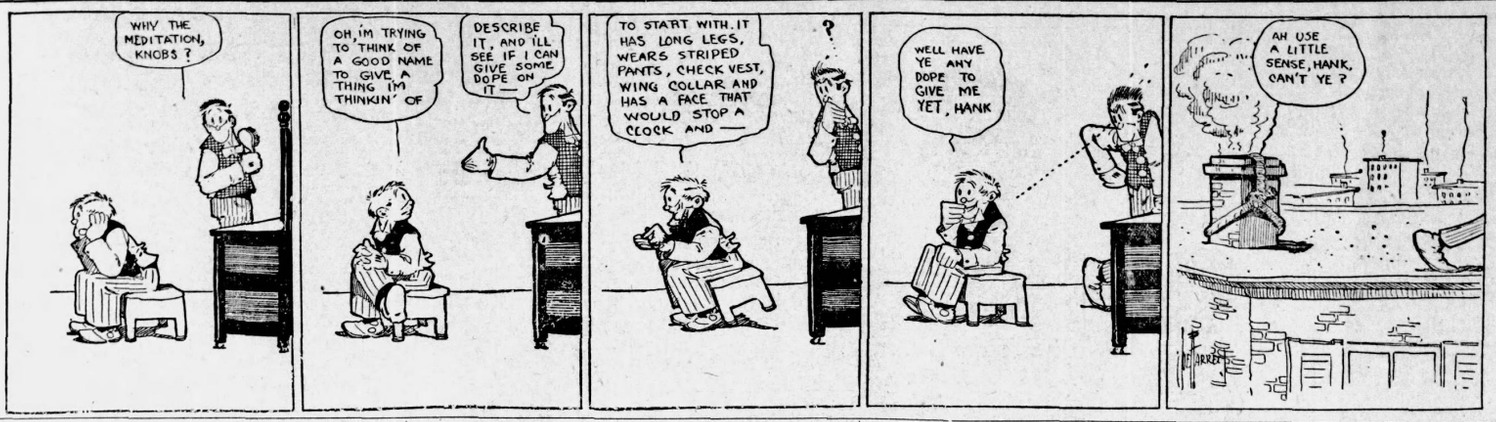
WHAT IS IN A NAME? ---BY FARREN



WHY THE MEDITATION, KNOBS ?
OH, I'M TRYING TO THINK OF A GOOD NAME TO GIVE A THING I'M THINKIN' OF DESCRIBE IT, AND I'LL SEE IF I CAN GIVE SOME DOPE ON IT — TO START WITH, IT HAS LONG LEGS, WEARS STRIPED PANTS, CHECK VEST, WING COLLAR AND HAS A FACE THAT WOULD STOP A CLOCK AND —
WELL HAVE YE ANY DOPE TO GIVE ME YET, HANK
AH USE A LITTLE SENSE, HANK, CAN'T YE ?

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE PIRATICAL PROBLEM.

(What's the matter with Pittsburg? Sport historian Ralph Davis recently put this query up to different members of the Pirate team and while each admitted that the stuff was there, different reasons were given for the club's poor showing. And so, with apologies to the ever lamented Hek—)

Yes, they were there with the stick,
Killing the ball every battle;
Pitchers? They've got the league pick—
Slabmen that nothing can rattle;
Fielders? The best to be found;
Blocking the way every inning;
Great little club all around—
Butthehelofitistheyain'twinning.
There isn't a weak spot about,
There isn't a flaw you can muster;
The peg or the grab or the clout,
They pull in a flag winning cluster;
Each bloke on the club's known to fame,
All ready and primed for the spinning;
The best little club in the game—
Butthehelofitistheyain'twinning.

Each time Manderin McGraw announces he fears the Cubs, Pirates, Dodgers or Braves above the Phillies, aforesaid Phillies jump out and increase their lead lead by from one game to three games. Which is our pale-blue idea of the height of rebuttal.

SPOOFING? WHO? US?

Sir—While in the act of spoofing or joshing Yale over her stand against Harvard this season, don't you think it might be just as well to look up the record of the two universities for the past twenty or thirty years? By doing so you will discover just where the crimson ranks with the blue as a winning banner.—Eli '04.

Far be it from us to spoof the Bulldog. And for that matter Yale's complete athletic history needs no defense against all the spoofs there are. But when Harvard manages to win on gridiron, diamond and water in one season she is certainly entitled to a chortle even though the chortling be furnished by a noncombatant who happens to be peering nonchalantly over the fence.

Yale had her day and Harvard is now having hers. Next year may bring another answer but these eternal lines are supported to be penned around incidents pertaining to the great and only NOW.

G. F. H.—Why do thy call Heinie the Great Zim? My word, how could they call him anything else?

ROWING DOPE.

Evidntly we are not a rowing expert. For example we are not yet able to understand just why Cornell should stick to Columbia's pace where it is understood that Columbia can't hold any such clip and is merely setting it to break Cornell down.

In the meanwhile Syracuse doesn't care how long Columbia sets the pace and Cornell attempts to follow. Not as long as good judgment is as much a part of the game as big muscle is.

FOR ONE THING OR ANOTHER.

The boast of batting and of fielding power;
The blare of fame from many a base hit wrench
Await alike the inevitable hour—
The paths of Heinie lead but to the bench.
(Gray's Elegey in a Cub ball yard.)

Bunn, the Baker of Baraboo, may have faded out across the has-been border, but Frank, the Baker of Trappe, Md., is just beginning to hit again. Thereby proving that the bat is mightier than the dough.

The Red Sox figure Bender is about through. His average is 10 won and 3 lost. He must have been quite apitcher at the top of his game.

Bender is through just as Matty and Wagner and Plank are through. The wily Chippewa hasn't anything left but ability to push the pill over the plate.

What with Ed Walsh having won 3 or 4 games and Ty Cobb batting below another we can't feel as if the season was well under way. The calendar says June, but there are other signs surer than the calendar.

Baraca Teams to Play Big Game

The Wesley Memorial team and the Agogas, of the Baraca league, will tie up for a a No. 1 contest at Ponce de Leon on Saturday afternoon at 3:30. These boys have two of the fastest amateur teams in the city, and there is sure to become scrap, as they are both winning from everything in sight. The Wesley team has won seven and has not yet been ndefeated. The Agoga team has won six and has only one loss chalked up against them.

The game will be called at 3:30 sharp, and an admission of 25 cents will be charged, ladies free.

Carrollton After Game

CARROLLTON, Ga., June 27.—Carrollton ball club would like to arrange games for July 4 and 5 on their grounds. Would prefer some strong team in Atlanta. Other teams within a radius of 40 miles of Carrollton considered. Address, E. K. Merrell, manager, box 171.

VALDOSTA IS RAG WINNER

VALDOSTA, Ga., June 27.—Valdosta took the first game of the final series from Cordele by the score of 3 to 1, thus getting the lead for the first half of the league's season. Zellers and Wilder were in fine form, with the former having a shade the better of the battle. Zellers fanned twelve and Wilder nine, and neither walked a man. With two men on in the sixth, Schwartz singled scoring two and winning the game.

A special train came in from Cordele, swelling the attendance into the largest of the season. The rivalry was intense.

Says Johnson Is Skipping

Reported That Negro Boxer Is to Jump Bond and Go to Europe

MONTREAL, June 27.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, under prison sentence in Chicago for violation of the white slave act and out on bail, is in this city on the way to England or France, according to report here. A man believed to be Johnson, accompanied by a white woman resembling his wife, arrived here on a Canadian Pacific railroad train and immediately disappeared.

Reports reached here from Toronto that Johnson and his wife had been in that city, where the fighter had had an interview with his former manager, Tom Flanagan, and had started for Montreal shortly afterward. Flanagan is quoted as saying Johnson intended forfeiting his bail and going to Paris. His presence here had not been confirmed up to a late hour.

Evans to Barons; Thompson Let Out

MOBILE, Ala., June 25.—Manager Molesworth, of Birmingham, announced just previous to his departure last night, that he had purchased pitcher Rube Evans outright from Manager Frank, of New Orleans. Thompson, who lost the game in Mobile Tuesday, will be sent back to the New York Americans.

Manager Schwartz, of the Nashville team, today announced the sale of Infielder Summers to the Roanoke, Va., club outright.

ATLANTIANS IN TOURNEY

The South Atlantic Tennis tournament starts in Augusta Monday with over 100 entries.

Atlanta players hold the honors in this division also, Dr. Nat Thornton being the holder. There will be quite a contingent from this city to compete for the South Atlantic title this time. Carlton Smith, E. Mansfield, E. V. Carter, B. M. Grant, Nat Thornton, Jake Orr and Carl Ramspeck have signified their intention of entering.

Logan vs. Moran

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—The first boxing match between white heavyweights to be held in New Orleans in more than two years will be staged tonight when Frank Moran, of New York, meets Tim Logan, of Chicago, in a ten-round bount. Both men are aspirants to the heavyweight title. Each fought a draw with the former champion, Luther McCarty, in the early days of the latter's career.

Jacob Shoen Dead

NEW WYORK, June 27.—Jacob Schoen, grand secretary of the Independent Order of B'Rith Abraham in the United States, died late tonight. He was sixty-five years old.

Why Not Have a Hay Carnival in Every Town in Georgia?

I BELIEVE one of the best things that could be done for the state of Georgia and something that could so easily be done at practically no cost would be to set aside a certain day for a hay carnival in every town in the state of Georgia, and do this every year. Let it be understood now that on a certain day this fall, say the first of November, let every small town and city in the state have what would be known as "Hay Day."

In time to come this would interest a great many people. On the other hand it would create an interest and give amusement for hundreds of people on this day in each town that would not be had otherwise. It would bring many times more than it would actually cost in dollars and cents to each of these towns during this day. It would be helping the state to accomplish something that would keep money in the state and encourage the farmers to do something that would directly benefit themselves more than any one thing I know of. If they could once be encouraged to grow hay they would soon find how profitable it was and would continue to do so and provide food for thousands of head of cattle that now are never thought of. There is no town of more than a hundred inhabitants in the state but what could easily raise $50 or more to offer as premiums to encourage the people to take an interest of this kind, still it is, as I said before, only a day, and helps many people to make an effort that would not do so otherwise.

For instance, if $50 was raised in a small town for premiums and divided say $15 for the best four-horse load of hay, $10 for teh best two-horse load of hay, $5 for the best one-horse load of hay, then $10 for the best ton of hay, $7.50 for best ten bales, and $2.50 for the best single bale. The premiums to be decided by the hay being sold and the highest price paid for same being the ones to receive the premiums. This could be so easily done and would be the best way to judge the quality of these products. Naming the price they brought in an open market would be sufficient evidence that one was willing to take his judgment with the money they would pay for these products as to its being the best. Of course in a large town where considerable money could be raised more premiums could be offered and be divided or distributed in a similar way, at practically on the same priciple.

The people in every community in which this work was done would see a big difference in a few years in the value of their stock and a increase in the amount of money that was sent out of this community for feed. On the other hand all of this premium money would be kept at home and no doubt would be spent with much more on top of it back with the merchants who had donated it. In addition it would bring hundreds of people to the town and the amount of extra business that the merchants would do during the day of the show would far more than bring them in return a lot more than they had offered in premiums. If this work was pushed and carried on and known that it was going to be done every year there is no telling in the course of time the millions of dollars it would keep and be the cause of being produced in this state. Georgia last year sent out of the state possibly $20,000,000 for hay. The amount of money that is sent out of Georgia every year for hay would not be a drop in the bucket compared to other good it would eventually do. It would eventually cause many people to feed this hay to live stock. They would raise and keep more live stock. And, in producing hay on many acres of ground that are now idle or kept exposed to the hot rays of the sun during the summer months this hay would be grown on these lands, would add vegetable matter and humus to the soil and make much larger crops following the growing of this hay each year afterwards. We all know that when a hay crop is grown on land, either peas, alfalfa or our native grasses that we are adding to each acre devoted to the growing of this crop at least $10 to $20 in producing capacity for the following year. If such was done in a few years the increased production in Georgia land in either cotton, corn or oats afterwards would be of untold value. Georgia could just as easily as not produce three times the number of bales of cotton that we are now producing on the same land that is now being cultivated in cotton, and in addition produce all of the feed we need for our own use to feed hundreds of head of cattle, and it would be done if the rotation of crops was practiced.

Yours very truly,
(TO BE CONTINUED.)

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.
Shellman, Ga.

Have just been reading your article in Atlanta Journal on alfalfa. I certainly agree with you—as I put out 5% of an acre prior to November last on a poor piece of land as there is in Georgia, being right at my houses and having just settled at this place since the 1st of April, 1912. I got a fine start by liming and inoculating my seed. I cut in May an crop that would measure fifteen inches high and we have quite a drought, and the cold weather retarded its growth. We had a good season about two weeks ago and it is now about twelve inches high, is spreading and looks much better than it ever did. It has passed the experimental stage as I only planted it as an experiment, and I will plant more largely of it this fall, as I have hands that I am satisfied will grow it equal to any of the lands out west. My notes is creating quite a lot of notice, and many others will try it this fall. There was a gentleman from Rockmart here during the reunion at Macon who came out to see my patch, and he said he was in yours and Mr. Old Morris' patches the week before, and said I had the best patch. So, you are right about it growing here. If you pass this way stop off and see mine.
C. M. C.

ANSWER.
Your letter received and it is similar to hundreds of others that I am getting. It shows how easily we can succeed with alfalfa in this state if we would only make an effort and use the necessary things essential for the successful growing of this wonderful plant. The time will come when alfalfa will pull this state out of debt and show the farmers the road to prosperity. It is only a question of time, and the boast of it is those who have succeeded let others know how easily it can be done. The farmers of this state need so badly assistance on these lines and it is so hard to get them to change out of the ordinary line of cotton and corn until we will have to use every effort possible to show others how easily this can be done and what a wonderful supply of food we can have so easily made if we will only make an effort.

Your experience is similar to many others and with an abundance of feed in Georgia we could so easily have live stock to not only furnish our own wants but to ship to other countries. The boll weevil will force the people sooner or later to wake up and take up the growing of alfalfa and live stock, and those who are smart enough to prepare themselves beforehand are those who will be protected and will not suffer. To think how easily it can be done it has often been a mystery to me why people are so behind about taking hold of this proposition and getting themselves in an independent condition instead of waiting until they are forced to do so.

Aunt Patsy Poultry Feed Co., Memphis, Tenn.

Gentlemen: Received blanks. They are all right and I hope will do some good in introducing Aunt Patsy to the breeders. All they have to do is to try the feed and see results and I am sure it will be a preferred feed. I have been using it quite a long time, and it gives me better satisfaction than any other feed, and I am not easily pleased. Any old thing don't do for my birds. I've got too much money and time in them to run risks with musty or inferior feed.

CHICKENS need more care and attention the next two or three months than at any other time during the year. It is perfectly natural for chickens to have lice and mites and unless you look after them they will multiply in such quantities that you can not expect your flock to prove profitable. The little chicks will not make the growth they should and the hens will not lay if they are covered with these pests. We have remedies that will positively get rid of them and the cost is very little, for 35c you can get a can of either Lee's, Conkey's or Pratt's Lice Liquid and we will guarantee either of these preparations to give entire satisfaction.

WE HAVE just gotten in a car of nice fresh clean, Red Comb feed. The price for Scratch and Mash is $2.25 per 100 lbs.

WE ARE offering Baby Chick feed at $2.15 per 100 lbs., for next few days. You know the regular price is $2.50 per 100 lbs. Better take advantage of this.

Two Tracts of Acreage on North Boulevard and Rock Springs Avenue Bring Aggregate of $30,350–Elizabeth Street Residence aSle–Peachtree Road Corner Changs Hands–Plastr's Bridge Sale–Peachtree Road Residence

The transfer of two pieces of acreage fronting on North Boulevard and Rock Springs avenue, for an aggregate consideration of $30,350, has just gone to record. The sale was made recently.

One tract of 16.3 acres, in land lot 56, fronting on North Boulevard, was sold by Mrs. Sallie J. Bearse to Edwin P. Ansley for $25,350.

The other parcel, containing five acres and fronting on Boulevard and Rock Springs avenue, was sold to Mr. Ansley by Paul E. and Lizzie L. Stephens for $5,000.

RESIDENCE SALE.

The M. C. Kiser agency has sold for Mrs. Margaret Tyler to C. H. Chapman 154 Elizabeth street for $6,750. This is a seven-room house on a lot with 60 feet frontage, and a depth back to Lake avenue.

PEACHTREE SALE.

Eugene Dickey and C. T. Swift have sold to J. W. Goldsmith, Jr., the northeast corner of Peachtree road and Peachtree way, part of the Peachtree Heights subdivision.

The lot has a frontage of 107 feet and a depth of 350 feet. The consideration is not named. The sellers paid $6,500 for the corner.

PLASTER'S BRIDGE SALE.

W. R. Turman, of the Turman, Black & Calhoun agency, has sold for Mrs. H. E. Berry to R. E. Trippe a large lot, posite the L'Engle home in Peachtree the north side of the road, 600 feet west of Ivy road, for $3,700 cash. The $17 a front foot. The purchaser will build on it.

PEACHTREE BUILDING.

A $20,000 residence is being built by Robert Zahner on Peachtree road, opposite the L'Engle home in Peachtree Heights Park. This will be one of the most attractive residences on the road and in a section where there has been much residence development of late.

SUBDIVISION OPENED.

Oakwood terrace, a new subdivision owned by the McKenzie Trust company, just off East Lake drive and not far from Druid Hills, has been opened.

There are 100 lots in all, and improvements are being installed. The subdivision is being handled by the Bottenfield agency.

OAKWOOD TERRACE SALE.

The Bottenfield agency announces the sale of lot 18, in Oakwood terrace, a new residence subdivision, adjoining Druid Hills, and just off East Lake drive. E. S. Martin, of the Bottenfield agency, sold this lot property for the McKenzie Trust company to T. J. Noland, of Adairsville, who will remodel the two-story residence on the lot and use it for his Atlanta residence. The property is located on Scoville street, and has a frontage of 92 feet with a depth of 275. The consideration is $2,600.

Mr. Martin, who made the above sale, has just gone with the Bottenfield agency, as has O. P. Lyman. Mr. Martin is from Tennessee, in which state and in Texas he has been engaged for a number of years in the sale of residence subdivisions. Mr. Lyman is of Atlanta, and was formerly connected with A. K. Hawkes.

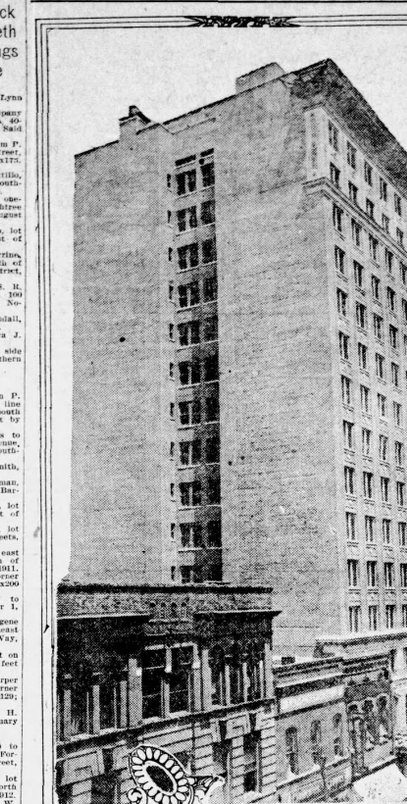
WINECOFF HOTEL ALMOST READY



The illustration shows the new Winecoff hotel at ePachtree and Ellis streets, last nearing completion. Practically all the exterior work is already finished, and the contractors are now at work on the interior. The building is fifteen stories, and will cost about $300,000. It will be operated by the present lessees of the Aragon, who hold a long lease.

Trimmings From Chinese Skirts

Chinese skirts in the original certainly possess as many varied uses as the famous porker, whose only use is its squeal. The front and back panel, with their rich embroideries in Pekin stitch, make exquisite long sailor collars when will mirecloonly turn your most cosmopolace frock into a veritable creation. The yards on yards of two-toned Chinese bine embroidery banlings make trimming galore for a stunning gown and hat. A striking parasol in these days of unique ones, is made from the skirt's pleated in embroidered sides, and an equally effective piano lamp shade can be evolved from the same with the addition of the panels.

AN EXPERIMENT, IT WORKED

The physician was Dr. A. E. Scott, of 948 Market Street, San Francisco. We are passing this item to the press without his permission and without having seen him. First—Because it is a fact, and Second—Because the public ought to know it.

Seven Oregon physicians had been consulted in a critical case of Bright's Disease. Patient's family was told there was no hope. The heart was so enlarged he could not lie down and he had the short breathing that often appears in the finale of this disease. Patint had slept two weeks sitting up when they started for Southern California. He was so short of breath, he feared he would die in the sleeper and stopped in San Francisco to consult a physician. They called in Dr. Scott. As the Oregon physicians had done everything the old school knew he prescribed Fulton's Renal Compound, aiding it with heart and eliminative treatment. Ten weeks thereafter the albumen was nearly out, patient was gaining strength, sleeping like a child and left for home.

Just before leaving he called and gave us the above facts in person. He said his stopping in San Francisco had saved his life.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Frank Edmondson & Bro., 11 N. Broad street, and 106 N. Fryor street, Atlanta, Ga.—(Advt.)

Saving and Investing

SENDING MONEY AWAY TO WORK.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

A man who knows at first hand the facts as to the money available for investment in France says that at least 35 per cent of it must be sent out of France for investment. The 65 per cent which remains is ample to meet all the business and development needs of France.

In a good many of our older states the situation is just about the same—in some of the newer states it is reversed.

I recently lunched with a banker from Texas. In the course of our talk I told him of letters I had received from various citizens of his state suggesting that eastern money, which thinks 5 per cent a good return on a safe loan, ought to flow more freely to Texas, where the rate of interest on safe loans is much higher. I asked my banker friend just how much higher the safe rate in Texas is. He said:

"I can tell you about the loans made by my own bank. We haven't a dollar out at less than 8 per cent, and on our small loans we are getting 10 per cent. Something in my face must have suggested that I was going to ask whether or not the loans were safe, for he went on:

"We won't lose a dollar of the money that's out; it is safe. The fact is that the ways of using money profitably in my part of Texas are so well known and so well tested that borrowers can afford to pay the rates demanded."

You see, there isn't enough money out there to go round. There is the chance for the money owner who knows how to safeguard his funds to send it out to work there, and in other communities where the demand exceeds the supply, at a profit. As a matter of fact, much of the cheap money is going out to work in those communities, but it is not the owners who are sending it, but the bankers, the bond merchants, and the promoters.

It ought to be possible for the average surplus money owner to find an inexpensive way to insure that the money he sends himself to the points of great demand will be safely employed. I believe that the way will be found, and that then capital will actually, and for the average man, become "liquid."

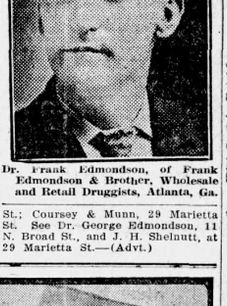
IF YOUR TONGUE IS COATED YOU NEED DODSON'S LIVER TONE

A Coated Tongue Means a Sluggish Liver. Calomel is Dangerous. Take Dodson's Liver Tone Instead.

When your doctor looks to see if your tongue is coated, he is trying to find out if your liver is working properly. A few years ago doctors had to prescribe calomel—there was nothing else to give.

Recently Dodson's Liver Tone has practically taken the place of calomel as a liver remedy. Dodson's Liver Tone is mild, pleasant tasting and harmless—which makes it a fine medicine for use when your children become bilious or constipated. But the most remarkable feature of Dodson's Liver Tone is the fact that every druggist who sells it guarantees it absolutely. Your druggist will return your money without argument if a bottle fails to give entire satisfaction. Price 50 cents at all druggists.—(Advt.)

Dr. Frank Edmondson of 11 North Broad St.



Dr. Frank Edmondson, of Frank Edmondson & Brother, Wholesale and Retail Druggists, Atlanta, Ga.

In the twenty-five years that I have been in the drug business I have never sold a remedy that gave such universal satisfaction as Nuxcara Indigestion and Dyspepsia. We have had an immense sale of it, and have never had a dissatisfied customer. It cures in every case, and everyone who has used it speaks of it in the highest terms. I have taken it myself, with the most pleasing results, and can heartily recommend it to be all that is claimed for it.

MORE EVIDENCE IN THE CASE.

We claim that Nuxcara is the only remedy known to the world that is a positive, certain and speedy remedy that never fails in indigestion, dyspepsia and catarrh, and we prove this assertion by hundreds of high-class, successful business men, who speak from experience. We challenge the world to produce these endorsements. We challenge the world to approach one of these gentlemen and ask them to endorse a statement that was untrue.

TETTER ON HANDS, HEAD AND FACE

Skin Would Break and Scale. Burned and Itched. Face a Fright. Lost Nearly All of Hair. Could Not Put Hands in Water. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Route No. 3, Rustburg, Va.—"I caught tetter in my hands, head and face four years ago. It came first with itching roughness and then the skin would break and scale up and then draw and wrinkle up. It would break and crack open in great gashes and bleed freely. It burned and itched and I would almost scratch the flesh off. When the itching ceased the burning was dreadful. My face was a fright. It would crack open and bleed at night. I lost nearly all of my hair. I could not bear to put my hands in water. I tried all remedies that could be mentioned and received no relief. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment a week I could wash, scrub and do any kind of work without any pain or bleeding. Now my face, hands and head are perfectly well and my hair is growing very nicely. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me." (Signed) Miss Anna Mosse, Apr. 15, 1912.

Why not have a clear skin, soft white hands, a clean scalp and good hair? It is your birthright. Cuticura Soap with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will bring about those coveted conditions in most cases when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

IT TAKES TOO MUCH STRENGTH TO BEND OVER AGAIN WHEN I START WORK
WHEN YOU COME TO WORK IN THE MORNING WALK AS IF YOU WERE GOING TO YOUR OWN FUNERAL-
WHAT ARE YOU TAKING THAT MEDICINE FOR?
OH, NOTHING- MY HEART IS PETRIFIED FROM LACK OF EXERCISE
KEEP TAKING STUFF OUT OF A BOTTLE WHEN THE BOSS IS AROUND-
DID YOU SHIP THE GOODS TO SKINEM BROS.?
NO, THANKS, I JUST HAD A HAIR-CUT
BE ABSENT-MINDED WHEN YOU ANSWER QUESTIONS-
DON'T EXPECT ME TO THE PARTY TONIGHT. I MIGHT NOT LIVE THAT LONG
PULL A LITTLE OF THIS KIND OF TALK OVER THE PHONE WHEN THE BOSS IS LISTENING-
MAKING TOAST, HILDA?
NO, PANSY, I'M BURNING A HOLE IN A SLICE OF BREAD SO I CAN WEAR IT FOR A BRACELET
FOOLISH QUESTIONS-NO. 2,468,758.
THIS IS YOUR LUNCH HOUR. WHY DON'T YOU GO OUT?
I'M AFRAID TO STAND UP- I FEEL DEAD FROM THE NECK DOWN
HIS LUNCH
STICK AROUND THE OFFICE DURING YOUR LUNCH-HOUR.
ALARM- ALARM- A MAN JUST CAVED IN!
FALL UNDER THE TABLE IN A FAINT EVERY ONCE IN A WHILE-BUT, I DON'T NEED A VACATION
I INSIST- TAKE THIS $1000 BILL AND GO TO EUROPE FOR FIVE OR SIX WEEKS.
AND YOU WON'T HAVE TO ASK FOR A VACATION.

THIEVES ROB COURT HOUSE AT COLUMBUS

Muscogee County and City Offices Ransacked—No Valuable Records Missing

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 27.—Mayor Chappell, Chief of Police Moore, Sheriff Beard and the entire police department, as well as the county authorities, are baffled at the mysterious robbery of practically all the offices at the Muscogee county court house, including the offices of the city clerk and treasurer. All have been working on the case, but it is stated that not a straw of evidence or even the slightest clue to the bold burglars has been found.

The fact that the court house is located directly in front of the police headquarters, where large numbers of blue coats can be seen at all hours of the day and night, made the robbery seem all the more bold and daring.

Armed, apparently with an auger, a small saw, a screwdriver, a chissel and hammer, the burglars broke into every office, including that of the county sheriff, solicitor general, judge of the superior court, ransacking all desk drawers, leaving nothing undisturbed, with the exception of $9 the Columbus Ledger's free ice fund for the poor-sick of the city, which was in a small box in the possession of the city treasurer, who acted as distributor. This was left by the thieves, who evidently had a tender spot in their hearts for the poor.

In all the burglars found only about $200. The big safe in the treasurer's office, however, was not disturbed.

Real Lady Grows Militant

NEWPORT, England, June 27.—Mrs. Margaret Haigh Mackworth (daughter of the "Coal King," David Thomas, now in Canada), was brought before a magistrate here today and remanded for fourteen days on a charge of placing explosives in a mail box. Mrs. Mackworth hitherto had not been an active militant. Her husband, Captain Humphrey Mackworth, of the Royal Monmouthshire Engineers, is the eldest son of Sir Arthur Mackworth, and heir to the baronetcy.

Two Are Drowned

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., June 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Cook, members of a sailing party, lost their lives here last night about 9 o'clock when the small boat containing the party collided with the steamer Hompano.

Tents for Brunswick

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The house today passed a joint resolution authorizing the war department to loan 1,400 tents to the Confederate reunion at Brunswick, Ga.

Desperate Fight in a Mine

PARIS.—Two thousand feet below the ground, in a gallery of a coal mine at Bethune, three miners suddenly attacked a fourth against whom they had a grudge, with picks. The man fought desperately, killing one and wounding another before he himself was killed.

Vast Fortune for Girl If She Releases Right To Pick Her Husband

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 27.—Under the terms of the will of Mrs. Caroline Cutterfield, who died here a year ago, her fortune appraised yesterday at $1,947,112, will go to her grand-daughter, Miss Crothan Ballard Smith, aged twenty, provided the young woman does not marry either o ftwo young men specifically mentioned and submits her ultimate choice of a husband to a board of five persons, named in the will, for approval.

The pretty young heircss loses the fortune if she marries either of the two sons of the former Mrs. Eleanor Phelps McKeague, now the widow of Henry Sedley, with whom Mrs. Cutterfield had a disagreement some years ago. In any event however, the young woman will some day come into ownership of her grandfather's estate, which is nearly equal to that which the grandmother leaves conditionally. The heiress has not seen the two Sedley boys since she was seven years old when they were neighbors.

PRESIDENT WILSON OFF FOR BRIEF VACATION

Will Remain at Summer White House for Only Few Days

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Wilson arranged his engagements to leave today with his family for the summer White House at Cornish, N. H. The president does not intend to remain more than a few days to get his family settled. Should congress adjourn tomorrow over July 4, his stay might be extended a few days.

It is his declared intention, however, to remain in Washington and share the discomforts of the heated season with congress.

ALBANY POLICEMAN SHOT TO DEATH BY STRANGER

(By Associated Press.)

ALBANY, Ga., June 27.—Policeman E. P. Harris was shot and killed here last night by an unidentified white man who arrived here on the Atlantic Coast Line train at 10:10 o'clock.

Conductor Walter Moore thought the man acted suspiciously and believed that he was one of the desperate gang that has been robbing Coast Line trains of late. Moore told Harris of the matter and the conductor and policeman jumped into a hack and drove up town. In front of the St. Nicholas hotel they found the man. Haris arrested him and the stranger put up a fight, got possession of the policeman's club and then whipped out a revolver and shot the policeman. The latter with a bullet through his body fired twice at the fleeing man. One bullet, it is believed, took effect.

To Substitute White

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 27.—Jack White, the Chicago featherweight, probably will be substituted for "Harlem" Tommy Murphy in a twenty round bout with Johnny Dundee scheduled for July 15 at Vernon.

CIRCUIT JUDGE FINED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Judge Samuel B. Browne Must Pay for Language Used in Court

(By Associated Press.)

MOBILE, Ala., June 27.—Samuel B. Browne, judge of the circuit court of Mobile county, who was arrested by the police Thursday on complaint of Assistant State Solicitor Tisdale Tourt, was fined $20 or ten days in jail by City Recorder Eddington this morning on the charge of disorderly conduct. The case was the result of an altercation in the court house yesterday, during which the judge is alleged to have used decidedly drastic language.

WILL ENLARGE STANDS AT NEWNAN FIELD

NEWNAN, Ga., June 27.—Plans are being drawn to enlarge the grandstand at the Newnan baseball park. The grandstand, which already will accommodate six hundred, will be doubled so as to seat about twelve hundred people, and the bleachers will also be enlarged.

With this addition the large crowd of spectators who have heretofore been standing will probably be seated comfortably.

Newnan's diamond, which is the fastest in the league, is in better shape than ever, and a move is on foot to make a grass diamond which will be the second in the league, Anniston having one.

RECEIVERSHIP OF MEXIC ROAD IS NOT CONFIRMED

NEW YORK, June 27.—Sneyer & Co. and other banking houses familiar with affairs of the National Railways of Mexico, were unable to confirm today the report that a receiver has been appointed for the system and were inclined to think it was an error. It was said that there was no reason for taking such action from the point of view of the road's finances, as all its obligations had been met.

A private dispatch purporting to have been received from President Huerta was made public by a banking house today, denying that E. N. Brown, president of the road, had resigned.

Southern Ladies Urge Skirts Twice The Present Size

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 27.—The much mooted question of the proper fit for women's skirts was a feature of a discussion at the National Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers' convention which began here today with delegates present from all parts of the country. It appeared a general opinion that narrow lines would continue to hold popular, with the trouser effect still a favorite among the ultra-fashionable.

The New York delegates were firm for skirts a yard around, while Chicago representatives insisted upon a little more leeway, a yard and a quarter with two slashes, one at the front and one at the back.

Louisiana delegates were the most conservative, sticking for a two-yard skirt, no slashes, and shirt waists instead of a three-piece suit.

The pistol pocket was an innovation credited to the Chicago tailors, and seemed to be generally accepted as a good idea. One or two patch pockets were suggested, and if women did not care for the pistol they might carry their powder puff in one and the purse in the other.

HAMET AFFAIR STIRS JAP SITUATION AGAIN

California Townsmen Ousted Koreans—"Small but Disturbing" the Estimate

WASHINGTON, June 27.—That it was just a small incident in itself, but very disturbing nevertheless, is the preliminary official estimate of the affair at Hamet, Cal., yesterday, involving the forcible expulsion from the community of a band of Korean pickers.

It is expected that the incident will be the subject of future representations by the Japanese ambassador as soon as he has been advised by the acting Japanese consul general at San Francisco of all the facts. Then it will be incumbent upon Secretary Bryan to transmit any complaint to Governor Johnson with an intimation that the president relies upon him to see that justice is done to aliens within the United States under terms of existing treaties.

Beyond that, it is scarcely possible for the national government to go at this stage at least, though later on it may become necessary to ask congress to indemnify the Koreans who have suffered any financial loss.

NO SLEUTHS TRAILING SPEER, SAYS EXAMINER

R. Colton Lewis, Special Agent Conducting Investigation Answers Federal Jurist

(By Associated Press.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 27.—R. Colton Lewis, special agent of the department of justice, who is here conducting what he says is a periodical inspection of the records of the United States court, said today with reference to Judge Speer's speech at Sioux City, Iowa:

"Judge Speer refers to an investigator and I suppose he means me. I know of no detective work being carried on in regard to Judge Speer. Further than that I have nothing to say."

No Special Stamp for The Parcel Post Soon

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Parcel post stamps will be valid on all classes of mail on an dafter July 1 ,and ordinary stamps, including commemorative issues will be good for postage on parcel post packages, under an order issued today by Postmaster Geenral Burleson.

Mr. Burleson explained today that the parced post stamp was designed for use temporarily only, to determine the amount of revenue derived from the parcel post.

Married Persons Live Longer Than Single, Says Chicago Doctor

CHICAGO, June 27.—Married persons live longer than those who are single, according to statistics gathered by Dr. C. St. Clair Draw, of the city health department. He has figured out that the death rate of Chicago bachelors is 29 1-2 per cent higher than that of married men. The mortality rate of unmarried women is 40 per cent higher than that of married women, he says.

The bachelor rate of death in Chicago is 19.8 per 1,000, while the rate for married men is 15.3. The rate of single women is 14.3, while that of those who marry is only 10.3.

Page to Drop Literature

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Thomas Nelson Page, of Virginia, the new ambassador to Italy, will drop his literary work while abroad in the service of the United States and devote all his talents to the art of diplomacy.

He made this known today. Mr. Page, however, expects to study carefully the literature of the Latin peoples and their romantic qualities probably will be reflected in his future work.
